Top Of The Morning

WEATHER

It will be sunny and cold today with possible snow flurries this morning. High will be about 25 and the low tonight 10. Tomorrow promises sunny skies and warmer temperatures. High will be about 32. Probability of snow is 30 per cent today and it will not snow tonight or tomorrow. Winds are northwesterly at 10 to 18 mph. Yesterday's results: precipitation, .31 inches; river, 3.16 feet and falling; high temperature 33; low 17. We received four inches of new snow and have a six-inch accumulation. Sunrise will be at 6:57 a.m. and sunset will be at 6:11 p.m.

WARREN COUNTY

The county's third traffic fatality was recorded when a 43-year-old Chandlers Valley woman was hit by an automobile on Route 69 south of Sugar Grove. The driver of the car said he did not see the woman, who was lying in the road, until it was too late. Page One.

There have been numerous complaints recently of new ordinances either planned or passed in Warren borough and county. It's nothing new, a search of old ordinances shows. Betty Rice, city and county government reporter, digs into them. Page One.

The local war over the war on poverty continued, with the latest front developing over the finances of the two-county Economic Opportunity Council. Council Director Richard Brown bared his office's finances in reply to county commissioners, who challenged the council's budget. Page A3.

PENNSYLVANIA

The General Assembly began preparations for the almost-certain constitutional convention to revamp the state's centuries-old constitution. Committees withheld action while waiting for the machinery to begin moving. Page A-5.

THE NATION

The controversy over financing of highways continued, with budget director Charles Schultze hinting that "even more" money would be released by the federal government. Of the $700 million "frozen" by the spiraling economy, $175 million has been released. Schultze said "a substantial amount" will be released in the near future. Page One.

The governor of New Jersey is seeking inter-state cooperation to control the sales of firearms to persons of "dubious" character. New Jersey already has passed a gun control law. Page A-8.

THE WORLD

Premier Chou En-lai's power base seems to be increasing as a result of the purge that precipitated near-revolution. He now is seen as a probable successor to Mao Tse-tung. Page A-5.

In the war in Vietnam, high-flying jet bombers staged a heavy raid near Cambodia in support of the frustrated Operation Junction City. The huge offensive has failed to turn up the enemy in any large number, although 45,000 Americans are combing the countryside for the guerrillas. Page A2.

SPORTS

Eisenhower's Bob Burlingame was named to the first team Upper Allegheny Valley League All-Stars yesterday. Ron Knapp of Youngsville received a second team berth. Other area cagers named to the first team were Pat McClellan, East Forest; Bruce Allen and Bob Troyer, Sparta and Greg Holtz of Pleasantville. Page A6.

First round pairings for Saturday's Central Northwestern Regional wrestling tourney at Altoona were announced Monday. Six champions return to defend their titles, including Saegertown's Dick Braymer and Jim Gollner of Reynolds from District X. Page A6.

UCLA's sensational sophomore Lew Alcindor received all but two first team votes to head The Associated Press' 1966-67 college All-America basketball team. Jim Walker of Providence, Louisville's Wesley Unsell, Clem Haskins of Western Kentucky and Elvin Hayes of Houston were also named to the first team. Page A7.

Richie Allen indicated yesterday that he would stick with selling cars for a living if the Philadelphia Phillies do not come across with the $100,000 salary he's demanding for the 1967 season. Page A7.

INDICTED FOR RACE MURDERS

Cecil Price (left) and Lawrence Rainey were indicted yesterday in the murders of three civil rights workers in Mississippi during 1964. Rainey is sheriff of the county in which the murder took place and Rice is his chief deputy. Also indicted in the conspiracy were 17 other men.

Woman Killed By Auto

Warren County recorded its third highway fatality of 1967 early yesterday morning with the death of a 43-year-old Chandlers Valley woman.

Dead is Eileen Rae Brooks, Dr. Donald J. Furman, assistant county coroner, last night reported that an autopsy was performed at Warren General Hospital yesterday and complete results would not be known for at least 10 days.

He did say, however, that death was caused as a result of being run over by an automobile. State police of the Warren substation are continuing their investigation of the unusual circumstances surrounding the accident which occurred at 2:45 a.m. yesterday on Route 69 just south of Sugar Grove borough.

Trooper John D. Barnes, the investigating officer, said the victim was lying in the southbound lane of Route 69 when an auto operated by Carl Swanson, 48, of Sugar Grove, RD 2, traveling south, struck the woman.

Barnes reported that Swanson swerved to the right in an attempt to miss the woman, but the left front and left rear wheels of his auto ran over her. Swanson told police he failed to see her lying on the road.

Henry Luce, Time, Inc., Dies at 68

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Henry R. Luce, confounder of Time Inc., who brought to magazine publishing a brand of personal journalism that informed and amused, and sometimes irritated, died yesterday at the age of 68.

Luce was editorial chairman of Time, Life, Fortune and Sports Illustrated. The magazines have a combined worldwide circulation of nearly 14 million.

He succumbed to a massive coronary attack at St. Joseph's Hospital, which he had entered Monday after complaining of not feeling well.

Luce had telephoned his wife, Clare Boothe Luce, at 10:30 p.m. Monday night at their winter home here and told her he was feeling better. A nurse said he left his bed at about 3 a.m. and walked to a bathroom where he collapsed and died.

Associates said Luce had played golf until a few days ago. He had appeared in robust health last Tuesday night when he attended a dinner in honor of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

He lived in an unpretentious brick home at Arizona Biltmore Estates, a winter resort, with his wife, the columnist and writer, playwright, former Connecticut congresswoman and former U.S. ambassador to Italy.

From an office in his home he kept in touch with his enterprises, which also included book publishing and a group of radio and television stations.

IN RIGHTS MURDERS

Sheriff Rainey, Aide Indicted

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence Rainey and his chief deputy, Cecil Price, were arrested yesterday on charges they conspired to violate the civil rights of three civil rights workers killed near Philadelphia, Miss., in 1964.

Rainey and Price were among 19 persons indicted Monday by a federal grand jury at Jackson. Also on the indictment list was Sam Bowers Jr., the FBI has identified him as the imperial wizard of the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

Bond for each of the defendants was set at $5,000 by U.S. Commissioner Richard E. Wilbourne II.

The indictment said the 19 "conspired together, with each other and with other persons to the grand jury unknown to injure, oppress, threaten and intimidate" Michael Henry Schwerner, James Earl Chaney and Andrew Goodman in the free exercise and enjoyment of the right and privilege secured to them by the 14th Amendment to the Constitution of the United States not to be deprived of life or liberty without due process of law.

The 19 men indicated were: Cecil Ray Price, Philadelphia, chief deputy sheriff of Neshoba County; Bernard Lee Akln, Meridian; Jimmy Arledge, Meridian; Horace Doyle Barnett, Cullum, La., formerly of Meridian; Travis Marlyn Barnett, Meridian; Glen Lovell Burrage, near Philadelphia; James Thomas Harris, Meridian; Frank J. Herndon, Meridian; James Edward Jordan, formerly of Gulfport, present whereabouts uncertain; the Rev. Edgar Ray Killen, Union;

Billy Wayne Posey, Philadelphia; Lawrence Andrew Rainey, Philadelphia, Neshoba County sheriff;

Jerry McGrew Sharpe, Philadelphia; Alton Wayne Roberts, Meridian; Jimmy Snowden, Meridian; Herman Tucker Philadelphia; Richard Andrew Willis, Philadelphia; E.G. (Hop) Burnett, Neshoba County; and Sam Bowers Jr., Laurel.

Bowers was not among those first indicted by a 1965 grand jury in the Philadelphia slayings. He was, however, indicted on federal charges in the 1966 slaying of Negro leader Vernon Dahmer of Hattiesburg.

The current grand jury, which met most of last week in Jackson, considered both the Philadelphia and Dahmer cases.

CONGRESS HINTS LIMITS

War Opposition Grows

(C) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — Sen. J. William Fulbright joined other senators yesterday in support of a "sense of Congress" resolution that would limit United States forces in Vietnam to 500,000 men and would stop military operations over North Vietnam unless there is a declaration of war by Congress.

The Arkansas Democrat, is chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, criticized the Vietnam war on the floor of the Senate. He engaged Sen. Richard B. Russell, chairman of the Armed Forces Committee, in two hours of debate on the stepped-up bombing and shelling of North Vietnam.

Fulbright seemed to be trying to persuade the Georgia Democrat to say that President Johnson had exceeded his constitutional authority in waging so large a war in Southeast Asia without a formal declaration of war by Congress.

But Russell, who has frequently criticized

President's Forces Could Release More Road Funds

(C) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON—The Administration indicated yesterday that "significant amounts" of withheld highway funds would be released within a matter of weeks.

With that assurance, a joint Senate-House inquiry into the politically unpopular cutback in highway funds was abruptly adjourned, days ahead of schedule. Monday, President Johnson released $175 million of the $1.1 billion highway cutback he had ordered last November as an anti-inflationary curb.

That failed to satisfy congressional critics, who scoffed that this was a mere "token gesture."

The Administration tried again yesterday to stem the criticism.

Testifying before the joint hearing of the Senate and House public works committees, budget director Charles L. Schultze hinted broadly that more of the remaining $825 million would be released.

Schultze suggested that, barring renewal of inflationary pressures on the economy, large amounts of highway funds would be released "well before June 30."

Sen. Jennings Randolph, D. W. Va., chairman of the Senate committee, said quickly, "then, you're saying that within a period of weeks we could expect a further release of funds."

"I hate to be pinned down to weeks, Senator," Schultze said. "But, basically, I think you're in the right ballpark."

In answer to other questions, Schultze said that the released funds would represent "significant amounts."

The budget director said, however, that there had been an "obvious garble" in reports that Johnson had promised release of an additional $25 million by July 1.

Congress has been under heavy pressure from governors and the politically powerful road lobbies since the highway freeze went into effect last November.

Rep. William H. Marsha, R. Ohio, said there was no excuse for increasing foreign aid expenditures at a time when "such an important thing as our highway system" is being cut back.

Rep. William C. Cramer, R. Fla., noted that the White House has not cut the poverty program by one penny.

But Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., came to the Administration's defense.

"For two years now, a lot of us have been criticizing the Administration for failing to take fiscal measures to combat inflation," the senator observed.

While he is all for highways, Cooper went on, "my position, and I would think the position of my party, is that we champion fiscal restraint in this time of inflation. The President's actions have been helpful."

FATHER RETIRING

Clark Named Att'y General

By KARL R. BAUMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson yesterday made his long-expected nomination of a fellow Texan, Ramsey Clark, 39, to succeed Nicholas Katzenbach as attorney general.

And also as expected, this was followed quickly with an announcement from Clark's father, Justice Tom C. Clark, that he will retire from the Supreme Court—sometime between now and the end of the court's term in June.

The purpose will be to avoid any conflict of interest between the high court and the Justice Department which the attorney general heads.

Justice Clark said he had been considering "what should be my course" last September, when his son's possible nomination "first came to public notice." It was then that Katzenbach was picked to become undersecretary of state and Ramsey Clark, deputy attorney general, took over Katzenbach's duties with the title of acting attorney general.

The justice said he wrote Chief Justice Earl Warren Oct.

3, the first day of the court's present term, "that in the event Ramsey becomes the attorney general it is my intention to retire from the court."

Johnson called newsmen into his office to announce his selection of the new attorney general and, with young Clark present, to sign the nomination. It went immediately to Capitol Hill for Senate confirmation.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., of the Senate Judiciary Committee, said hearings will be held Thursday on the nomination to question Clark and hear any other interested witnesses.

Before Justice Clark's announcement, the question of his resigning came up at Johnson's session with newsmen and he replied: "That's a matter for his father. I have not discussed it with the father or with the son."

Later young Clark was asked by newsmen if he saw his appointment as any barrier to continued court service by his father. He replied: "From my standpoint it won't."

Justice Clark said the time of his retirement will depend on his review of the court's docket "for any possible conflicts in cases that may arise during the remainder of the term."

"I shall decide whether I should—in order to avoid untimely inconveniences and delay to litigants and the court—remain until the end of the term, which is anticipated to occur in June of 1967, or retire on Ramsey's becoming attorney general."

Clark is the last of President Harry S. Truman's three appointments to the high court still serving. He is third in seniority of service behind Associate Justice Hugo L. Black, who went on the bench in 1937, and William O. Douglas, who took his seat in 1937.

Clark, 67, was attorney general when he was nominated associate justice. He took his oath Aug. 24, 1949, when he was 49.

WHAT'S MORE, YOU NEVER COULD

You Still Can't Fight City Hall

(Editor's Note: Betty Rice, the TMO city and county government reporter, doesn't find it surprising that some local laws are unpopular. It has ever been thus, as she points out in this feature on antiquated ordinances.)

By BETTY RICE

The citizens of today frequently find fault with day-to-day living and its rules and regulations. Borough council must soon adopt a new zoning ordinance with buildings codes to follow. Many protest regimentation as being a thing of the present.

The truth is, however, that there were certain interesting ordinances in effect back in 1918, when B.G. Gregory was burgess and S. D. Tibbitts, president of council. Other officials were A. J. Hazeltine, treasurer; J. H. Goldstein, secretary of council; W. C. Duff, street commissioner; Earle MacDonald, borough solicitor; Gottlieb Haag, chief of police; C. M. Gordon, fire chief and Alton Rogers, borough engineer.

For example it was unlawful for anyone to allow any horse, mule, sheep, swine, geese, ducks, chickens or fowl of any kind—or even cattle, to run at large on any street, lane, alley or public ground in Warren borough. You weren't permitted to ride or drive any horse, mule or cow along the public sidewalks either to say nothing of permitting them to graze on public streets or grounds.

Under the law persons were required to make certain their horses, mares or teams were securely tied or hitched unless left in charge of some competent person. Even in those days, they apparently had parking problems.

Those desiring to conduct lunch wagons might have to purchase an annual license for $25 and those setting up a merry-go-round, shooting gallery or striking machines on private property also had to secure a license if they charged a fee for use of the devices.

As for moving picture shows—those were the days. Pictures of an immodest or immoral tone or character, including pictures of pugilistic encounters or contests commonly known as ring or prize fights were not allowed and the showing of same caused the place to be closed. No picture show or show of similar character could be exhibited on Sundays.

Persons having charge of a street car in operation in the borough, upon sounding of a fire alarm, was required to slow up at all corners until the conductor examined the side streets and the street ahead and signals to go ahead. This precaution was to be observed for three minutes from the time the alarm sounded or until the fire apparatus had passed.

On the other hand, certain 1918 regulations are still in existence. Don't try swimming in the Conewango Creek or Allegheny River within the borough limits without a bathing suit or other suit to protect your person from exposure.

There also was an ordinance prohibiting throwing snowballs, stones, as well as playing baseball and football on public streets, lanes, alleys or grounds. Companies running propelling cars by electricity through or over several streets in Warren could not exceed a speed of 10 miles per hour.

No person plying business as a street fakir was permitted to occupy any public streets for the sale of medicine, jewelry or any other matter whatsoever. Wooden awnings were outlawed and those playing the trade of umbrella mender or scissors grinder had to pay the burgess a sum of one dollar a day.

And last but not least, one wasn't allowed to keep any hog or hogs nor any hive nor hives of bees in Warren borough—a practice also illegal today.

A volume of ordinances has been put into effect in the last 49 years and those in Warren borough can expect many more in the years to come as new problems arise. The old adage holds—you still can't fight city hall.

Briefly Speaking

Units of Warren Fire Department early yesterday morning investigated a leaky sprinkler system in the pattern shop of Struthers Wells Incorporated.

Thomas K. Barratt, Warren County School District Superintendent, said yesterday he has received indications from Harrisburg that a bill changing teachers' retirement conditions will be presented to the legislature sometime this month. The bill would allow retirement with full benefits after 30 years of service or 55 years of age, instead of the present 35 and 62 year system.

George Loomis of Pittsfield was recently appointed an authorized dealer of Wheel Horse Products. The company manufactures lawn mowers, snow removal equipment and farm equipment. The dealership will be known as Loomis and Son.

Johnson Proposes New TV Network

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson urged Congress yesterday to create a Corporation for Public Television that could be the forerunner of a new educational television-radio network free of all advertising commercials.

This was the highlight of a special message on education and health in which Johnson also announced plans for a national conference to explore possibilities for rolling back rising medical costs.

Officials said the new corporation proposed by Johnson would "operate much like a foundation" and distribute grants to noncommercial television and radio stations or networks. It would help finance the development of programs, underwrite some operating costs and, perhaps, help launch a major fourth network.

"One of the corporation's first tasks," Johnson said, "should be to study the practicality and the economic advantages of using communications satellites to establish an educational television and radio network."

Such a network, should it come to pass, might eventually rival the major commercial networks in audience appeal.

Said Johnson "I am convinced that a vital and self-sufficient noncommercial television system will not only instruct, but inspire and uplift our people."

He said educational television now "is reaching only a fraction of its potential audience — and achieving only a fraction of its potential worth."

The Ford Foundation has been urging the establishment of an educational television network using communications satellites. It has suggested an excise tax on the sale of new television receivers to finance the undertaking.

Johnson proposed that the corporation be eligible for both public and private funds and asked for $9 million to get it started. He said he would give Congress recommendations next year on longer range financing.

As for rising medical costs, Johnson announced plans for a national conference later this year "to discuss how we can lower the costs of medical services without impairing the quality."

This idea grew out of a just-completed study of medical costs conducted by a panel headed by John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare.

B-52s Hit Border Around Cambodia

SAIGON (AP) — B52 jet bombers staged a heavy raid near Cambodia's frontier in support of Operation Junction City yesterday. On the other side of the country, U.S. Marines in Operation Deckhouse 6 stabbed again from the sea at the enemy's coastal holdings.

U.S. fighter-bombers struck on both sides of the border amid official silence here about developments in newly disclosed pressures on North Vietnam — the long-range military shelling, naval bombardment and the aerial mining of navigable streams.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, declared, however, that the U.S. guided-missile cruiser Canberra and four destroyers shelled coastal areas Monday between the border and Thanh Hoa, 80 miles south of Hanoi. The dispatch from Hanoi described this as a pirate action.

The Viet Cong's political leaders, the Central Committee of the National Liberation Front, reaffirmed in a broadcast statement that the guerrillas intend to fight on until their five-point demands of March 22, 1965, are met. Their No. 1 point is the withdrawal of all U.S. troops and bases from Vietnam.

In Saigon there was another officially sanctioned demonstration against France, the former colonial ruler of Indochina whose chief of state now regards neutrality as the solution of Vietnamese problems. More than 200 motor scooters splattered slowly through the main streets in the fourth day of the demonstrations, which President Charles de Gaulle's government protested Monday.

"Down with De Gaulle," was the theme of the chanting demonstrators and their crudely lettered signs on the three-wheeled vehicles which form part of Saigon's public transport. Leaders handed out petitions calling for the confiscation of all French property in the country and its distribution among poor Vietnamese.

Highlighting field reports from briefing officers: —The eight-engine Stratofortresses from Guam blasted at a Viet Cong base camp 17 miles west of Tay Ninh City to help 45,000 U.S. combat and supply troops wipe the enemy from 250 square miles of the jungled War Zone C.

The saturation strike, within a big bend of the frontier northwest of Saigon, was the sixtieth the B52s in this most massive offensive of the war.

—Troops in Operation Junction City, launched last Wednesday, reported killing 27 members of the enemy, raising the toll to 89.

—About 300 miles to the northeast, a battalion landing team of 1,500 U.S. Marines pulled out of a 12-day campaign 37 miles south of Quang Ngai and stormed in by helicopters and amphibian landing craft 16 miles up the coast. The new phase of Operation Deckhouse 6 met no resistance. The operation has claimed 204 enemy dead.

highway until the car was on top of her.

The victim was pronounced dead on arrival at 3:45 a.m. at WGH by Dr. Richard Peters, who said death was caused by head injuries, possible internal abdominal injuries and a crushed chest.

Dr. Furman said results of police investigation would not be released until complete autopsy reports have been returned from the FBI laboratory in Washington.

The victim was the daughter of Hilton Henhawk and Gladys Haggmark and was born in Onondaga, N.Y., on Feb. 18, 1924.

Surviving are her husband Chester; her father; her mother of Jamestown, N.Y.; three daughters, Mrs. Carl (Janice) Utter of Sugar Grove and Patsy and Trudy at home; two sons, Lorin and William at home; seven brothers, Joseph Jackson of Birmingham, Ala., Clayton of Bradford, Buddy Jackson of Jamestown, N.Y., Carlis Jackson of Westfield, N.Y., Stewart Jackson of Los Angeles, Calif., Kenneth Jackson of Jamestown, and Darryl Jackson of Jamestown; two sisters, Mrs. Marjorie Bentley of Sinclairville, N.Y., and Mrs. Muriel Young of Jamestown, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Friends may call at McKinney Funeral Home, Youngsville, from 2 to 4 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m. today.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow, March 2, at the funeral home with the Rev. Charles McIntyre of Chancellors Valley EUB Church officiating. Burial will be in Chancellors Valley Cemetery.

Russian Writer Looks Back At Year's Exile

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) —Soviet writer Valery Tarsis looked back yesterday over a year of exile in the West.

"I feel great creative freedom," the 60-year-old anti-Communist said. "Here I feel sure that no one can put me into prison or a lunatic asylum."

"But I miss my friends in Russia very much and I lack the atmosphere of combat."

Jamestown Briefs

A Jamestown Boys' Club official yesterday criticized anti-poverty officials for not spending more on projects in Jamestown. Arthur B. Verry, the club's executive vice president, said southern Chautauqua County and the city of Jamestown have been allotted only $13,270 for the "Catch Up" project and for the Boys' Club. He said this compares unfavorably with the $23,318 allotted to the central county anti-poverty administrative office. Programs in the Dunkirk area have been allotted $49,666.

Garbage collection at Celdron will cost at least $1,000 more during the coming year. Theodore Beichner, garbage collector for the area, has asked for a $1,000 increase in the 1967-68 contract, which expires June 1. The board reportedly plans to include the increase in next year's budget. Garbage costs this year were $4,850.

Ted Stathakis, Republican city committee chairman, charged the city council's ambulance committee Monday night with "shallow thinking." He also said Democratic councilman Nicholas Schepis' attack on Jamestown Ambulance service was an example of the kind of thinking that has caused Stathakis to become "more and more concerned over the affairs of the city." Stathakis said Mayor Dunn had not shown strong leadership concerning the recent ambulance problem.

Chautauqua County treasurer Robert H. Miller yesterday said he opposes legislation providing taxation of interest on county or local government bonds. He spoke at a conference of local finance officials held in Washington.

Cornplanter Council Plans Cub Roundtable

Chief Cornplanter Council will hold its monthly Roundtable meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Grace Methodist Church, Warren.

The Boy Scout Roundtable will feature conservation activities. Activities such as conservation projects, management of natural resources discussions, and merit badge ideas will be emphasized. Troop 26 of Russell will present a slide presentation of their recent winter camping experiences.

The Cub Scout Roundtable will feature "Mountains of America." Displays concerning different types of rocks, and different mountain formations will be featured.

Chief Cornplanter Explorer Cabinet will meet to elect their 1967 officers and plan coming events.

Girard Case Upheld By State High Court

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The U.S. Third Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday forestalled the immediate admission of Negroes to Girard College, an all-white charity school for boys in Philadelphia.

The court, in a 3-2 decision, ruled in favor of Girard trustees, who had appealed an injunction by the U.S. District Court that forced them to admit Negroes.

Jamestown Snares Four Teen Gangs

Fifty Jamestown area burglaries have been admitted by members of four separate teenage gangs.

Chief of the Jamestown detective bureau Lt. Richard Ream said yesterday that 16 youths from four separate gangs have signed confessions. He said the confessions clear up burglaries dating back to last July.

Auto theft and malicious mischief were included in the lists of crimes admitted.

Lt. Ream said the youths involved, all 16 to 20 years old, operated in four generally separate groups. But, he added, most of the youths knew each other. One or more members of one gang might, the detective said, join another gang in a burglary.

Of the 16 youths, five have been sentenced already, said Lt. Ream. Nine are awaiting trial. Two are free on bail. Burglaries confessed to include five safe jobs: at the American Legion, C. C. Ring School, College Stadium, J. S. Auto Supply and Johnson the Florist.

Besides the 50 burglaries, nine incidents of window-breaking were confessed, said Lt. Ream.

(C) N.Y. Times News Service NEW YORK — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy (D-N.Y.) has asked Harper & Row to halt publication of a book containing his major speeches on national and international affairs.

The action came as an apparent result of the rift between the Kennedy family and the 150-year-old publishing house over William Manchester's "The Death of a President." Harper & Row will publish the book in April after Manchester removes certain personal recollections at the request of Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy.

Kennedy's book, entitled "New Problems, New Proposals", had been scheduled to appear before the end of February.

Route 17-J Scheduled For 4-Lane

Route 17-J will become a four lane highway between Jamestown and the Route 74 intersection, according to preliminary plans of the New York State Department of Public Works.

Norman W. Krapf, DPW district engineer, said Monday that preliminary plans for 17-J expansion will be completed this summer.

He said a public hearing will be held when the preliminary plans are complete.

Krapf discussed the highway with a delegation of Lakewood officials and businessmen in Buffalo. He told the delegation that the location of 17-J will not be changed. Some intersecting streets may, however, be improved to handle increased traffic. Those streets will also be discussed at the public hearing.

Krapf said highway planners are taking into account the likelihood of increased traffic when two new shopping centers are completed.

Watershed Proposal Indefinite

The proposed Chautauqua Lake-Chadaco River Watershed project was the subject of a luncheon meeting at the Hotel Jamestown Monday.

Homer Stennett, U.S. Department of Agriculture conservationist, told Jamestown Rotary Club members that "no definite date" has been set for starting the project.

He said the project's cost has been estimated at $5.5 million.

Half the money would come from federal sources, said Stennett. As for the rest of the money, Stennett said, "I can not say at this time where the rest would come from."

The watershed project would provide stored reserves of water for three purposes: flood control, lake level control, and river level control.

Stennett said completion of the project might attract new industries to the area.

Busy Time For Players Performers

The arrival of March starts a busy month for the members and followers of the Warren Players Club. An informal Green Room presentation, the annual elections meeting and the next major production are all scheduled for the next few weeks.

The Green Room and elections meeting will be held jointly this Sunday, March 5th in the Player's clubrooms above the K. of C. A very interesting and original one-act play has been arranged for the Green Room which will begin at 7:30 p.m. The election of next year's Players Club officers and the serving of refreshments will follow the entertainment. All active members and friends of Players are invited and urged to attend.

The Green Room play was written especially for this event by Players member Bill O'Dell. Bill will also direct the show and will be assisted by Chuck Bigelow serving as producer. Unusual for Green Room presentations, this show will be fully staged with lighting and costumes.

The title of O'Dell's latest creation is: "Non Objective No. 1 Plus An Artistic Play in One Thing." As the title indicates, the play is described by its author as an absurd comedy. Cast for the show are Harry Smith, Mike Allen and Pat O'Brien. They will also be joined by Kaye Gorenflo, who will perform a special electronic dance number.

A large cast and production staff of the Players Club is also presently rehearsing the groups next major production, "The Merry Wives of Windsor." This Shakespearean farce comedy will be brought to the stage of Beauty Auditorium on Friday and Saturday evenings, March 17 and 18.

ANSWER TO COMMISSIONERS

Poverty Office Releases Figures

In response to a request by the county commissioners, the Warren-Forest Counties Economic Opportunity Council, Inc., last night released copies of monthly financial statements of the council submitted to Washington.

Richard M. Brown, executive director of the local office, said last night that "operation (of the council) have at no time been those of a secret organization."

He added that all council activities — staff, directors, meetings—are and have always been open to the public. The same is true with the financial operation of the office, he said.

Brown reported that funds totaling $59,888 were received by the local group from the Office of Economic Opportunity at Washington through Jan. 31, 1967. The amounts met the following specifications:

Jan. 1, 1966, $5,000, program development grant; Feb. 24, 1966, $10,000, program development grant; July 13, 1966, $32,670.40, two-county Head Start grant; Aug. 12, 1966, $4,050, program development; and Aug. 19, 1966, Head Start grant.

As of Oct. 31, 1966, the Head Start program had funds of $9,690.87 on hand, according to a local certified public accountant firm. Of this total, $5,534.28 comes from Warren County and the remainder from Forest County.

The federal government, prior to June 13, 1966, allocated $23,983.72 to the Head Start program in Warren County. Non-federal contributions valued at $4,706.58 were provided. Of this, $1,363.50 was the value of personnel service and $2,994 for space. Cash of $349.08 was added.

Expenditure of the federal funds were as follows: personnel (not including non-federal contributions) $13,426.20; consultants and contract services, $1,813.51; travel, $6,460.10; consumable supplies, $2,122.97; and other costs, $160.95.

Funds approved for the operation of the Warren-Forest Counties Economic Opportunity Council through Jan. 1, 1967, are broken down as follows:

Personnel, $17,375; consultants and contract service, $1,484; travel, $1,574; space costs and rentals, $1,087; consumable supplies, $494; rental lease and purchase of equipment, $1,276; and other costs, $892.

The total cost is $24,182. Of this, $22,052 is the federal share and $2,130 the county share.

Brown reported that none of the funds made available by the recent grant package to the local council has been received to date. The current balance in the council's account at the Pennsylvania Bank and Trust Company, as of closing yesterday was $6,262.21, Brown said.

Brown said the council agrees with a statement of the late President Kennedy:

"To those people in the huts and villages of half the globe struggling to break the bonds of mass misery, we pledge our best efforts to help them help themselves, for whatever period is required—not because the Communists may be doing it, not because we seek votes, but because it is right. If a free society cannot help the many who are poor, it cannot save the few who are rich."

Important to Know One Another

A farewell message from a Melanesian priest, who visited for a brief period of time in Warren and in other parishes of the Episcopal Diocese of Erie proves thought provoking.

Father Augustine Malefodola had this to say -- "My visit was indeed blessed. Every home I entered and everyone I met, demonstrated that eagerness of trying to know one another as persons."

"I am inclined to believe that it is ignorance and arrogance that keeps you (white man) and me (black man) apart from realizing our oneness in Him Whom we serve."

"We always incline to think we know a lot "about" our fellow brethren, but knowing "about" them is not the same as "knowing" them. So, I'm glad to say and think that during my visit with you, each one of us has come to know one another -- and if we really know each other we shall probably be able to overcome some of our prejudices."

Fr. Malefodola, who left for his native land February 3, concluded by saying -- "Thank you all very much, for wherever I go and whatever home I enter, love is awaiting at the doors to welcome and embrace me."

Too bad such sentiments are not world-wide.

Johnson Defines the Issue

(c) N.Y. Times News Service

WASHINGTON — In his news conference this week, President Johnson defined the main political issue before the American people. He said that everything he was doing in Vietnam was part of his "search for peace." He conceded that he was increasing the military pressure on the enemy by mining the rivers and shelling ports of North Vietnam. He took full personal responsibility for this course of action and he added "I don't see any other alternative."

This is likely to be the central issue of the 1968 presidential election campaign. The cartoonists and editorial writers rebuked Johnson, because he got into a silly argument with the reporters over whether his new military decisions were one more "escalation" of the war, but at least he made his policy clear and asked, in effect, to be voted up or down on the consequences.

In no news conference since he entered the White House has the President been more appealing or self-revealing. He dealt, really, with two wars: The war in Vietnam and the war at home about the war in Vietnam. On the latter, he appealed for an end to sloganeering about such words as "escalation."

This was a self-serving argument because obviously mining the rivers and shelling the ports of North Vietnam does raise the level of violence, but he had a point. Words are now muddling the national debate: escalation, de-escalation, negotiation, defoliation, infiltration, accommodation, nonproliferation and pacification are all becoming arguments in themselves and diverting the nation from the main question.

The main question, however, is precisely what the President said it was later in the conference. The central issue is the President's judgment. The primary thing is Lyndon Johnson's belief, which he expressed with conviction and even eloquence, that the way to get peace in Vietnam is to increase the military pressure, step by step; not to stop the bombing indefinitely and test the Hanoi peace feelers and not to smash the industrial centers of North Vietnam, but to take half a step forward toward the hawks and hold back the other half step in deference to the doves.

There was a suggestion of finality in this judgment, as if he were bringing the long debate to an end. He quoted Lincoln without referring to him: "I will do the very best I know how—the very best I can; and I mean to keep on doing it to the end. If the end brings me out all right, what is said about me won't amount to anything. If the end brings me out wrong, ten angels swearing I was right would make no difference. . . ."

This is a perfect illustration of Johnsonian Capitol Hill strategy: Halfway between the loud-shrieking extremes, part bold, part prudent, and therefore appealing to the undecided majority. It is, of course, also a perfect description of what President Kennedy did at the Bay of Pigs where he temporized and lost.

The danger of this middle course is that it will prolong the war indefinitely, almost certainly through the presidential campaign of 1968, and saddle the President with the charge of expanding a war he can neither win nor end.

The military events of the last few days are certainly not promising. The largest U.S. air and ground operation of the war, involving over 25,000 men, is running into the usual frustration of a vanishing enemy. Meanwhile, the U.S. military command in Saigon has confirmed that the Viet Cong guerrillas are now using Soviet-built rockets that recently hit the U.S. air base at Danang from a distance of six miles.

Nevertheless, the President's position is that he cannot see "any other alternative," and this, of course is what is being challenged in many quarters of the world. In fact, what is coming increasingly into question is another assumption of the Administration's, namely, that Moscow really wants to see the war ended.

On the contrary, despite all the recent talk about the Soviets appealing to Hanoi to reduce the level of the fighting, the evidence here is of more Soviet arms and more sophisticated weapons being sent to Hanoi from the Soviet Union.

The outlook, therefore, is not only for a limited but a prolonged war, which is precisely what Johnson, facing an election next year, does not want, but which the Soviets, facing the hostile Chinese, may desire as a diversion of Peking's energies to the south.

JOSEPH ALSOP

The Big Blink in London

WASHINGTON — What happened in London 10 days ago between the British and Soviet prime ministers was very much more important than anyone has as yet admitted in public. Facts have been published, but in a manner three-quarters shorn of meaning.

Briefly, Premier Alexei Kosygin went to London with a lingering hope that this country might still be induced to "stop the bombing to get talks" about Vietnam. More specifically, he hoped to persuade the British to change their stand and to join in the pressure that the Soviets had been so persistently applying since September.

Kosygin's aim had been foreseen in Washington. Chester Cooper, one of the ablest members of Averell Harriman's "peace task force," was, therefore, sent over very inconspicuously just before the Kosygin visit to give Prime Minister Harold Wilson the very latest details of the situation as seen here in Washington.

In the outcome the prime minister and Foreign Secretary George Brown refused to be budged from their position that the President was quite reasonable to refuse a bombing halt without some sort of reciprocal action by Hanoi. Whereupon — and here is the vital, meaningful development — the Soviet premier took the wholly new tack of trying to budgie Hanoi.

For this purpose, the Soviet government, at Kosygin's request, officially urged the Hanoi government to take quite important reciprocal action in order to secure the desired bombing halt and the opening of negotiations. After long delays (during which Harold Wilson has confessed that he thought peace was "within grasp") the Hanoi leaders refused to heed Moscow's urgings.

But Hanoi's obstinacy was really less significant than Moscow's new flexibility. When one partner is deeply and painfully engaged and another partner is merely giving aid and comfort, the engaged partner is always bound to meet the first suggestion that he cut his losses with an initial show of obstinacy. The thing to note, in fact, is that Moscow has begun to give this kind of advice.

This means, first, that Hanoi's partners in Moscow now judge that the war is going very badly for Hanoi. It means, second, that Moscow seriously wants the war ended as soon as possible. Without such compelling reasons Kosygin would never, indeed could never, have done what he did.

One informed judge has remarked, "The Soviets were formerly trying to find a way out that would save America's face. Now they are trying to find a way out that will save Hanoi's face." Maybe that is putting it a bit high, but the fact remains that in Dean Rusk's terminology there was a big blink in London, though a blink at secondhand, to be sure.

The Wilson-Kosygin conversations had some other vividly interesting aspects. Quite spontaneously, for instance, and to all appearances quite disinterestedly, Premier Kosygin strongly advised Prime Minister Wilson to remain solidly faithful to his American alliance, whatever Charles de Gaulle might say about it. The United States, Kosygin implied, mattered immeasurably more than France.

Again, Premier Kosygin had the frankness to admit, at one point, that no less than 100,000 North Vietnamese are now at the front in South Vietnam. This figure means that just about one-half of the Viet Cong — indeed, rather more than half, according to the documents newly captured in the "Cedar Falls" operation — are now invaders from the North.

The figure is far higher than any U. S. intelligence has ever used. It points to serious deterioration of the Viet Cong's structure and popular support in the South, for such an enormous northern presence can only reflect an urgent need. It fits, in short, with what Kosygin did in London.

One may be quite certain, moreover, that what Kosygin did in London was only a beginning. Such new departures are always beginnings, never ends. It is a 10-to-1 bet, therefore, that new approaches to peace in Vietnam are now being jointly explored in some back room or other by Soviet and American representatives.

This does not mean that an end is already in sight — although it just could be. It is also a situation demanding maximum American self-possession. To budgie Hanoi at last, maximum pressure must be maintained at the front. Yet in outlining possible settlement terms the most generous moderation must also be shown. It will be criminal if the first "smell of victory," as Walter Lippmann has put it, is allowed to cause intoxication from success.

The fact remains that if we are both resolute and generous and may yet be in sight before most people have dared to imagine,

MASON DENISON

Cart Before The Horse?

HARRISBURG — Has Governor Shafer placed the cart before the horse?

There are those who insist he has done this very thing in placing legislative priority on his call for a constitutional convention — prior to at least getting his billion-dollar-plus general fund budget through the Legislature, to say nothing of other "major" legislative programs he may have in mind.

Denison

Mr. Shafer himself doesn't follow any such line of reasoning, nor do his strategists or most administration legislative leaders.

Or, as one devotee of the cart-before-the-horse theory expressed it:

"The Governor's prestige is riding on this constitutional convention bit — and if he loses on this point, he'll be weakened considerably on the rest of his programs, to say nothing of his whopping big budget when that comes through."

In essence however, the cart-horse theme seems to be more balderdash than anything else when viewed in depth.

First of all Mr. Shafer as simply and as directly as possible, made it clear that constitutional revision would be one of the "prime" objectives of his administration. He was committed in full no matter how you look at it.

Secondly, time became of the essence if there was any hope of getting the question on the ballot this year — which in itself meant speedy and early introduction of the controversial problem to the Legislature.

Thirdly, a budget has to go through regardless of how anyone may feel about it; after all, no budget — no state operations!

It is true some of his programs which will be enunciated in the budgetary prospectus yet to come may fall by the wayside (perhaps but not likely) as a result of the pre-budget constitutional convention ruckus — but this is classified solely as a calculated risk which Mr. Shafer was willing to take.

The contention has been expressed that Mr. Shafer in his so-called cart-before-the-horse maneuver has broken away from precedent, embarked upon some sort of new and untried strategy.

The fact is that Mr. Shafer is following the pattern rather well for first year chief executives!

For example, Governor Scranton during his first year in office tossed to the legislative wolves a number of his more controversial legislative proposals — long before his budget presentation was ever made.

A perfect illustration of this was his strongly opposed program for reorganizing Pennsylvania's educational setup revolving around establishment of a completely new State Board of Education to run the show.

He not only introduced this long before his budget ever saw the light of legislative day but had it hammered through the Senate (after previously being rejected by a one-vote margin) before his fiscal tome was offered.

Similar controversial "prestige-riding" legislative gems went into the legislative hopper from the Scranton stockade long before he came up with his budgetary document.

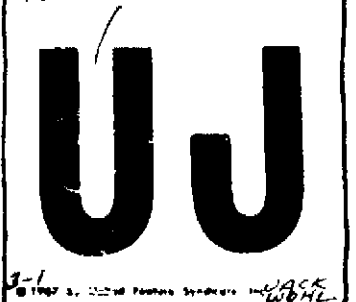

Mr. Shafer is in virtually the same boat with regard to his early presentation of his constitutional convention proposal. Whether he wins or loses in this war (he already has half the battle won via Senate approval) is expected to have little if any effect on his chances with the remainder of his programs and his budget.

As for whether the horse or the cart is in front, it depends largely on how you look at it — from the first glance standpoint or on a deeper second look.

IRS Mysterious About CIA $$$

WASHINGTON — The manner in which the CIA was able to hush up its channeling of public funds to tax-exempt foundations was partially brought to light by Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., back in 1964.

Patman did his best to dig into the CIA mystery but ran into a stone wall. Here is what happened when he cross-examined Internal Revenue officials on Aug. 31, 1964:

PATMAN — "On August 10 I asked you to explain the fact that the IRS has taken no action on the Kaplan Fund for several years, despite the fact that millions of dollars of tax liabilities may be involved."

"Mr. Rogovin (assistant to IRS Commissioner Caplin) indicated that the fund's operations with the CIA was the reason for the lack of action on the part of the IRS. Have you brought the file with you, Mr. Harding?"

BERTRAND HARDING (acting IRS head) — "I have not brought the file, it was my understanding . . . that it would be improper for me to comment on the material in that file."

PATMAN — "We want you to produce the file and, of course, there are ways we can do that. One is by a request, and the other is by a subpoena. I do not think you would want a subpoena issued for the file. Are you going to produce it for us?"

HARDING — "Well, the investigative file is in New York."

PATMAN — "We made it rather plain that we wanted to have it at this time. We are going to have to request you to produce that file. Will you do it?"

HARDING — "I would like to consult and answer that question later."

ROGOVIN — "The Revenue Service's action with respect to the Kaplan Fund has not been terminated, nor have we changed our legal opinion because of the CIA. That was a sensitive matter; we were dealing with it in a sensitive fashion, and there was some time delay as a result."

PATMAN — "In view of the fact that the Kaplan Fund has been under investigation by the IRS for a number of years prior to the CIA-Kaplan Fund-IRS arrangement, can you tell us why the CIA chose this fund to operate as a conduit for channeling funds?"

ROGOVIN — "I believe that would best be answered by a representative of the CIA."

PATMAN — "Is there a representative of the CIA here?"

HARDING — "Not to my knowledge, sir."

Sinatra's Opening Night

It was midnight. The lobby of the Fontainebleau was a marble funnel, filtering people through the narrow entrance to the La Ronde Room. The maître d' hotel and his captains, like snobish pallbearers, held huge menus aloft and bowed the selected mourners into the temple. They were there, not to bury Caesar, but to praise him.

This was the opening night of Frank Sinatra's show. Two eccentric dancers — Cook and a d Brown — were on the stage, maiming themselves for laughs. A 36-piece orchestra boxed all ears. Lucille Ball jerked her orange head to the rhythm. Garry Morton brayed with anticipation. Jackie Gleason, down front, looked like someone who has swallowed a man.

Blue smoke moved up; amber booze went down. Dinner was $25. A bottle of Louis Roederer Cristal V nestled at $30 per label. Joe E. Lewis turned to Harold Gibbons of the Teamsters and said: "Give the busboy $400 and tell him to bring some water." Harold Conrad, who promotes his fights, said: "I'll take a double. Hate to drink alone."

The dancer's left. An Easter egg comic named Shucky Greene came on. He set the mood of respect for Sinatra. "I went into his dressing room," he said. "Frank wasn't there, but his rings were, so I kissed them, and I'm not even Catholic." Gene Kelly, who has larceny in his feet, laughed and slapped a tablecloth.

Mr. Greene kept the clock running on his jokes until the star was ready. Then he left, and Gordon Jenkins came on-stage to lame the musicians with one hand. The blue velvet curtain closed. The lights went out. The audience, entranced with itself, displayed its best bad manners by talking over the sudden darkness.

Jim Bishop On Monday

The last sentence of Jim Bishop's Monday column was accidentally dropped, leaving the reader up in the air. The following is a repeat of the end of the Monday's column:

The best speech I ever heard was in Toots Shor's restaurant several years ago when Dugs Baer tripped over his 70th birthday.

Bill Carum and Bob Conscience flanked him, and kept adding a little fresh sauce to his glass. By the time all of the orators had finished relating what a great guy Dugs is, the guest of honor appeared to be stupefied with joy. He was assisted to his feet, leaned his chin against the silver microphone, and intoned:

"I heard a lot of nice things about myself tonight, and I'd be a sucker to deny a word of it." Then he fell down . . .

SYLVIA PORTER

About Mutual Funds

There are 29 mutual funds listed in Arthur Wiesenberger's "Investment Companies" which have as their objective "maximum capital gains." To achieve this goal, they aggressively trade their portfolios and invest in a limited number rather than a cross-section of stocks.

The fund in this category which chalked up the best performance in 1965's bull market came in with the seventh worst performance in 1966's bear market. Its 1965 gain was 67.9 per cent, its 1966 loss was 6.7 per cent.

There are 28 mutual funds listed by Wiesenberger which have "growth" as their main objective. To achieve this, these also trade actively and look for special situations. The fund in this category which came close to tying for first place in 1965 ran next to last in performance in 1966. Its 1965 gain was 36.5 per cent, its 1966 loss was 9.1 per cent.

There are 19 mutual funds listed which have as their objective "growth and income, with relative stability." Their turnover of stocks is less than average. The fund which performed the best in 1965 was in fourth place in 1966. Its 1965 gain was 24.4 per cent, its 1966 loss was 8.4 per cent.

These three comparisons underline the dramatic differences in the performance of individual mutual funds from year to year, a fact which financial analyst A. Wilfred May calls "extremely unrealistic but vital." Continued May in a recent article in the Commercial & Financial Chronicle: this record is "particularly important for the investing public to realize in view of the assumption, in offering comparative ratings, that past performances supply a guide to the future. The wide year-to-year variation renders such forecasting technique completely abortive."

Let me make it unmistakably clear right here that the performance of each of these funds in 1966 was far superior to that of the Dow-Jones average of 30 industrial stocks, the yardstick against which the records of individual investors and mutual funds are traditionally measured. The Dow-Jones industrial average fell 19 per cent in 1966 and many blue chip stocks slumped much more. In contrast, most mutual funds held their losses to under 10 per cent and some actually increased in price.

What's more, over the longer-term, owners of the top mutual funds have unquestionably come out ahead—testimony to the value of professional management. The average increase in net assets per share of the "maximum capital gain" funds in the five-year period from 1962 to the start of 1967 was more than 50 per cent and the average increase in the net assets of these funds in the 10-year period from 1957 to 1967 was more than 157 per cent. Other major categories of funds had smaller but still impressive gains over the five and 10-year periods.

Finally, a most provocative point is that on average the supposedly riskiest funds, those seeking maximum capital gains, kept their losses in 1966's bear market to an insignificant level. The average loss of the 29 funds was a tiny 1.2 per cent, the smallest of any major category of funds.

Nevertheless, May's point has considerable validity and even the Wiesenberger compilation is prefaced with the warning that "the results shown should under no circumstances be construed as an indication of future performance."

In sum, you should check for more than a mutual fund's past performance before you buy its shares. You should be sure the fund you buy has the same investment goals that you have.

And if you buy and hold for the long-term, you must expect your fund's performance to vary from year to year—at times spectacularly — depending not only on its management's aims and competence but also on its nimbleness and luck.

No Decision

It seems that Commissioner Robert Rankin, one of the nine members of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission, holds a different view of the current trout stocking program than I do. This fact was established quickly and emphatically in the few words we exchanged at a recent meeting during a short intermission.

Whether or not we could have brought our views closer to agreement if the discussion would have continued is hard to say. But we were interrupted, leaving the issue hanging in the air without either of us having stated our positions clearly.

However, the points made by the Commissioner are the same as those previously made by fish commission personnel, so I will assume that I am familiar with the line of thinking they endorse. And needless to say, this is a line of thinking that I cannot agree with.

To begin with, the Commissioner pointed out that a few years ago the sale of fishing licenses was on the decline and that only an increase in the amount of trout stocking had reversed the trend. In his words, "the Fish Commission is now a going concern."

I will agree that it is. But I would like to point out to the Commissioner that the increased trout stocking program he cites as a "lifesaver" was not made possible by an increase in the number of trout coming from state hatcheries. It was the direct result of a cooperative agreement reached with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service that provided a wealth of federal trout to build up the state stocking program.

The upward trend in the sale of fishing licenses and the implementation of the cooperative agreement were closely related.

If we could depend on the benefits of this agreement indefinitely, I would be more inclined to agree with the Commissioner's line of thinking. But rumors are already circulating that the federal agency is considering making a large charge for the trout they supply. This is a near future. If the Pennsylvania fishermen are going to square a license with a license increase or a reduction of the trout stocking program.

Which brings up another point made by the Commissioner. That is, that the average fisherman who buys a license wants to catch fish. However, he didn't say that this average fisherman insisted that the fish he wants to catch must be trout, and I consider this to be a vital point.

I have contended for some time that the desire of the average fisherman to catch fish could be satisfied if we de-emphasized the importance of trout and emphasized the desirability of fishing for the warm water species. If this is done, I am convinced the trout stocking program could be halved without a drop in license sales (a matter of vital concern to the commission) and even an increase in license sales might be expected.

To do this successfully, though, we must first change our antiquated thinking that closes the seasons on these warm water species at the very time overall fishing interest and pressure is at a peak. These so-called "spawning" seasons are worthless in this modern age when a single hatchery can produce more fry than all of the streams in Pennsylvania, and do it at a reasonable cost.

What is really needed, I think, is an "opening day" that would include all game species — trout, bass, walleyes, musky, northern pike — thus permitting the tremendous fishing pressure of the event to be spread over all of our fishable waters. And thus reducing the pressure on a trout stocking program that is presently taking a huge bite out of the fisherman's dollar, and is threatening to take even more.

There are those who might argue that stocking our streams with fry or fingerlings of the warm water species isn't practical. Then is it practical to think that the fry and fingerlings produced naturally during our "spawning" seasons will survive?

Others might argue that this is the time of the year when bass are on the nest, are very easily caught, and the future of this species could be threatened. Can these persons name one Pennsylvania bass stream that isn't presently threatened with an over-population? Or would they argue that we can't produce more of any species in our hatcheries than is presently being produced naturally in our streams?

And how many will argue it is better to maintain the present schedule, the status quo, and support a substantial increase in the license fee?

Personally, I think the time has come for the Pennsylvania Fish Commission to demonstrate the same ability for practical thinking they have in the past — a brand of foresight that has made them a leader among the fish commissions of the nation.

A sampling of hunters in Ohio showed that 66 per cent would happily pay more for licenses if the money was used for wildlife research and management. More than $72 million a year is now paid by hunters for licenses, tags and stamps.

CNW Regional Wrestling Tourney Pairings Listed

First round pairings for the PIAA Central Northwestern Regional Wrestling Tournament at Altoona Saturday were announced Monday.

District champions from four areas of Western Pennsylvania will compete for 12 berths to the PIAA State Finals at Penn State's Recreation Hall on March 11.

The afternoon session will start at 2 p.m., with the finals slated for 7:30 p.m.

The Regional tourney, one of four in the State this weekend, is held annually at Altoona's Jaffa Mosque. John Miller is tournament director. He also manages the State Championship Tournament.

Competing will be winners from Districts 5, 6, 9 and 10.

Six finalists from the 1966 tourney will return to defend their crowns: Dick Braymer, Saegertown (103); Larry Ripley, Lock Haven (127); Barry Daniels, Bald Eagle (133); Tom Young, Clearfield (138); Jim Gollner, Reynolds (145) and Dave Joyner, State College (heavyweight). All are seniors.

Commodore Perry's Art Grinnell, CNW Regional and State Champion last year as a sophomore, will not be numbered among the competitors. First and second place winners will receive awards.

Afternoon pairings, with District represented in parentheses, are as follows:

95—Charley Smith, Somerset (5) vs. Dan Clark, Clearfield (9); Harold Henry, Indiana (6) vs. Robert Braymer, Saegertown (10).

103—Dave Clark, Clearfield (9) vs. Richard Braymer, Saegertown (10); Ray Dunkle, Bedford (5) vs. Larry Strout, United (5).

112—John Bleech, Northern Bedford (5) vs. Ed Osborne, Commodore-Perry (10); Dave Weber, State College (6) vs. Ross Donahue, DuBois (9).

120—Jim Shawley, Jenner-Boswell (5) vs. Charley Faust, Chief Logan (6); Norm Palovsek, Clearfield (9) vs. Roger Cook, Commodore-Perry (10).

127—Larry Rippey, Lock Haven (6) vs. Mark Shaffer, DuBois (9); Jay Miller, Jenner-Boswell (5) vs. Gary Taylor, Greensville (10).

133—Ed Heynoski, Ft. LeBeau (10) vs. Barry Daniels, Bald Eagle (133); John Shaffer, Bedford (5) vs. Lew Bressler, Curwensville (9).

138—Don Groover, Reynolds (10) vs. Rich Houser, Bellefonte (6); Tom Hammel, Jenner-Boswell (5) vs. Tom Young, Clearfield (9).

Mercer and Emporium Win Playoff

Emporium and Mercer moved one step closer to a showdown in the PIAA Class B playoffs by recording wins last night.

The Cameron County Red Raiders posted a 73-58 win over St. Marys at Bradford in the District 9-B semifinals. The Mustangs dropped West Middlesex in District 10-B semifinals at Farrell, 80-56.

Emporium will play East Brady of the Clarion County League on Friday at DuBois. Mercer will play the winner of the Cambridge Springs-Jerome game being played tonight.

The Red Raiders are now 22-0 for the season. They trailed after one period, 12-11. Moved into a tie at 14-14 and took over from there. They led the Flying Dutchmen at the half by a 28-24 score and iced the game in the fourth quarter by outscoring St. Marys 26-17.

Emporium, rulers of the Northern Tier League, placed four men in double figures. Dick Peterson led the way with 31 points. He hit mostly on jump shots from the right side and under the basket. He added seven points from the foul line. Gary Fisher hit six field goals for 12 points. Jerry Joyce and Terry Dolan each had 10 points for the Red Raiders.

Don Wilhelm scored 24 points for the Flying Dutch. All his points came on field goals. Bud Brennan and Roger Hanes each tallied 10 for the losers.

Emporium made three more field goals, 30-27, and outscored the Dutchmen from the foul line by hitting on 13 of 19 compared to four of 10 for the Dutch.

High scoring Bob Rhoads tossed in 27 points for the Mustangs to lead them to their 21st win in 23 games.

Three other Mustangs hit double figures with Dave Knowlton scoring 16, Art Adair 12 and Dick Harris 11.

Cliff Allison led the Big Red with 15 points. Ted Selby and Dennis Chupak scored 13 and 12 points respectively for the losers.

The Mustangs took a 17-10 lead after one period. In the middle two periods they outscored the Big Red by a 42-24 margin to take a 59-34 lead after three periods. In the final period the Mustangs were outscored 22-21.

Both teams scored 16 foul shots. Mercer hit 32 field goals to 20 for the Big Red.

Colavito Convinced He's Up for Trade

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Rocky Colavito, Cleveland Indians outfielder, said yesterday he is convinced that General Manager Gabe Paul will trade him. "What else can I think?" asked Colavito at his home in Temple, Pa.

"There have been absolutely no negotiations between us, I haven't heard from him since he sent me a telegram last week and I can't remember the last time we talked."

Leading the balloting was Pat McClellan of the league champion East Forest Bears. He garnered a perfect total of 60.

Other first team members were Bruce Allen, Sparta; Bob Burlingame, Eisenhower; Gregg Holtz, Pleasantville; and Bob Troyer, Sparta. Burlingame and Holtz, both juniors, are 6-5.

The second team is made up of Randy Custer of West Forest, Elden Miller of Sparta, Bill Renton of East Forest, Ron Galmish of Pleasantville and Ron Knapp of Youngsville.

According to McClellan's coach, Chuck Myers, he was very deserving of the unanimous choice. McClellan set three scoring records at the Marienville institution during the past season.

He broke the season scoring record of 432 points by tallying 638 markers for an average of 27.7 points a game. He cracked the three-year scoring mark by hitting for an even 1,200 points three seasons. This broke the old mark set by Bill McClain a year ago. He also broke the single game scoring mark of 42 points. First, he hit for 43 against Eisenhower and came back late in the season to score 44 against West Forest. Myers claims that McClellan hasn't reached his peak, and added that he has all the tools to be a fine college ball player.

Bruce Allen and Bob Troyer were the leading scorers on the Sparta team that finished second to the Bears in the UAVL, losing in a playoff last week. Both are 5-8 seniors.

Bob Burlingame of Eisenhower scored 228 points in 10 league games. He missed the final two games because of illness. The 22.8 average for league games was 2 higher than his season average.

Holtz was the leading scorer for the Pleasantville Falcons during the season. This was his second year of varsity action. The pivotman scored well from in close and did a good job rebounding.

Youngsville's only representative, Ron Knapp, was voted a spot on the second unit. He was the leading scorer for the Eagles with 272 points for the season.

Tidioute was the only team not represented on the first two teams, Sparta had three, Pleasantville and East Forest two apiece, Eisenhower, West Forest and Youngsville one each.

Underclassmen Give Knights Cage Hopes

The 18-game slate that the Eisenhower Knights played was spotted with only four wins, but it was also spotted with the play of some fine underclassmen. The four wins posted by the Knights came over the Alumni, Pleasantville and Tidioute, twice.

Three times during the year the Knights were victims of 100-point, or better, barrages by the opposition. Sparta turned the trick twice and Sheffield reached it once.

With the dismal season gone, coach Bill Sherwood has plenty of experience and scoring punch coming back next season. Leading the way will be 6-5 junior Bob Burlingame. He averaged 22.6 points a game. Burlingame missed the final two games of the season with pneumonia.

Also back will be sophomore Barton Lohnes. He came on strong in league competition and should be able to lend an experienced hand in the backcourt next year. Lohnes averaged eight points a game for the year.

Sophomore Allen Swanson, who scored 76 points in 14 games mostly as a substitute, should be ready for a full time job in the front court.

Three of the five top scorers for the Knights were seniors. Second on the list was Gary Fry with 189 points in 17 games for an average of 11.1 points per game.

Dave Van Cise was a consistent eight-point a game man with 146 markers for the season. He finished third, four points better than Lohnes.

Fifth was Bill McFarland. He scored 108 points on the season. His best game was against Tidioute when he scored 14 points.

Other individual highs were: Burlingame, 35 against East Forest; Fry, 22 against Sparta; Van Cise, 21 in the season finale against Sparta; Lohnes, 22 against Tidioute; and Swanson, 13 against West Forest.

The Knights scored a total of 1,092 points for an average of 60.7 points a game. The opposition did a little better by scoring 1,335 points for an average of 74.2 points per game. The best game that the Knights had offensively was an 83-point rally against Tidioute in the first meeting between the schools in January. The Knights won the game 83-68. The poorest showing the Knights had on offense came against Youngsville when they scored only 34 points.

Defensively the Knights limited Pleasantville to 53 points in their best game. Sparta's powerful offense accounted for 113 points in the worst showing of the Knight defense.

City Softball Loop To Import Pitchers

City Softball League directors continued to plan for the upcoming season at a meeting held last night at the American Legion. Umpires, pitching, the schedule and opening day ceremonies were among the subjects discussed by officials and members of the loop present.

The league has adopted a plan of regularly assigned umpires for loop play and have received definite commitments from several of the county's top officials. Others will be contacted in the next few weeks to determine their availability.

Miami Officials Deny Sale of AFL Franchise

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Management of the Miami Dolphins denied rumors it said are circulating about a sale of the American Football League team. "Such reports only indicate the exciting nature of a pro football venture and the value of this franchise," said Joe Robbie, managing partner of the club. Robbie and comedian Danny Thomas are majority owners of the Miami franchise which was bought for an estimated $7.5 million. In their first year of operation last season, the Dolphins drew an average crowd of 28,000 a game. They won three and lost 11.

"There are no negotiations in process for the sale of the Miami Dolphins," Robbie said in an interview with the Miami News. "There have been none since this franchise was awarded. I can conceive of no set of circumstances in which any offer would be entertained or discussed."

basketball All-America by the Associated Press. Alcindor, fabulous 7-foot-1 3/8 sophomore from the country's top-ranked Bruins of the Pacific-8 Conference, dominated the voting by 308 sportswriters and broadcasters. He garnered 306 first-place votes and was ignored completely by the other two voters.

Bob Verga of Duke, Ron Widby of Tennessee, Larry Miller of North Carolina, Bob Lloyd of Rutgers and Louie Dampier of Kentucky were named as a second team. Dampier made the first-team All-America last year, but his fortunes fell as Kentucky failed to repeat as Southeastern Conference champions.

Rounding out the All-America squad as a third team were Butch Beard of Louisville, Sonny Dove of St. John's of New York, Mel Daniels of New Mexico, Jim Burns of Northwestern and David Latin of Texas Western.

Each of the top 15 will receive certificates from The Associated Press.

All five players on the first team are Negroes, the first time this has happened since The Associated Press began selecting All-America teams after the 1948 season. Four Negroes were honored in 1958 when Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas, Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati, Elgin lies doesn't come up with a salary approximating $100,000 a year. Be serious, a reporter said to the hard-hitting third baseman, you can't mean that?

"I am serious," retorted the 24-year-old Allen, who hit 40 home runs, drove in 110 and hit .317 for the Phillies last year.

"I like meeting people. I like listening to their stories. I'm an apprentice at selling cars just like I was at third base. I need help. But it's fun. "People kid me about holding out. The women say, 'Are you really worth a 100?' I tell 'em we'll see."

"Everybody tells me, 'We want you to play but get what you deserve.'"

Officially, Allen isn't a hold-out until today when the team reports for spring drills at Clearwater, Fla. But both Allen and Quinn admit they aren't even close to agreement. Allen earned a reported $42,000 in 1966, his third season in the league.

"I don't expect to budge," says Allen, who insists the Phillies haven't even made him an offer. He admitted he didn't open the contract sent him by Quinn "because I knew it was the same salary last year."

What have he and Quinn talked about in their recent discussions.

"We talked about my horse and the fights (boxing bouts)," Allen says. "He knows my price. I know they're not worried—Tony Taylor plays third base good." (Taylor hit .242 with 40 RBI and 5 home runs.)

"Oh, well," Allen concludes, "when does the season open, April 14? They can do without me a month or so. Maybe I'll play on a sandlot team somewhere."

For $100,000?

Major Loop Reps Ask Short Year

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Representatives of the major league players association agreed at a meeting yesterday to press for a shorter baseball season and a minimum salary of $12,000.

The minimum salary now is $7,000.

They said these proposals will be discussed at a meeting with the owners' scheduling committee in Florida March 7 and with the salary committee March 20.

"There is sentiment for starting the season later and ending it earlier," said Marvin Miller, the executive director of the association.

"We have heard complaints about damp weather at both ends of the schedule. There is doubt among the players that revenue would be lost if games at the front and back ends of the current schedule were eliminated."

Catcher Bob Rodgers of the California Angels, chief American League representative, commented: "We are simply trying to move in the best interests of baseball—giving the fan who pays his money the highest quality performance possible. I feel that the owners are working toward the same goal also."

The players representatives also unanimously approved the expanded pension program, doubling retirement and other benefits.

"There are no negotiations in process for the sale of the Miami Dolphins," Robbie said in an interview with the Miami News. "There have been none since this franchise was awarded. I can conceive of no set of circumstances in which any offer would be entertained or discussed."

Baylor of Seattle and Guy Rodgers of Temple were picked.

AP College All-America

NEW YORK (AP)—The 1967 college basketball All-America as selected by The Associated Press on the votes from 308 sportswriters and broadcasters.

First Team

Lew Alcindor, UCLA, 7-foot-1 3/8, sophomore, hometown, New York City.
Jim Walker, Providence, 6-3 senior, Boston.
Westley Unseld, Louisville, 6-8, junior, Louisville, Ky.
Clem Haskins, Western Kentucky, 6-3, senior, Campbellsville, Ky.
Alvin Hayes, Houston, 6-8, junior, Bayville, La.

Second Team

Bob Verga, Duke, 6-0, senior, Sea Girt, N.J.
Ron Widby, Tennessee, 6-4, senior, Knoxville.
Bob Lloyd, Rutgers, 6-1, senior, Upper Darby, Pa.
Larry Miller, North Carolina, 6-3, junior, Catassuqua, Pa.
Louis Dampier, Kentucky, 6-0, senior, Indianapolis.

Heading the honorable mention list were Lucious Allen of UCLA, Don May of Dayton, Bob Lewis of North Carolina, Sam Williams of Iowa, Mal Graham of New York University, Jo Jo White of Kansas, Eldridge Webb of Tulsa, Cliff Anderson of St. Joseph's, Pa., Don Smith of Iowa State and Tom Boerwinkle of Tennessee.

Walker, slick ball handler for Providence, moved up from the 1966 second team, by landing 268 first-and 17 second-team votes. On the basis of five points for first and two for second, Walker thus polled a total of 1,274 to Alcindor's 1,530.

Unseld, a 6-8 junior for Louisville's Missouri Valley conference champs, received 204 firsts and 47 seconds for 1,114 points. Hayes, known as the Big E, is another 6-8 junior for the Houston Cougars. He got 127 firsts and 79 seconds for 733, but was beaten out in the voting by Haskins, a 6-3 senior like Walker.

Haskins, known as Clem the Gem, paced Western Kentucky to the Ohio Valley Conference title, although he missed several games in February because of a wrist injury. He received 87 firsts, but passed Hayes with 114 seconds for 763 total points.

Verga's 601 points on 87 firsts and 83 seconds topped the second team in voting. Widby, proclaimed the best player in the SEC, was next with 379 on 53-57.

UCLA Still First on Poll

By BEN OLAN
AP Sports Writer
Unless the UCLA Bruins stumble against Stanford and California this weekend they are almost certain to finish as the overwhelming leaders in the final Associated Press major college basketball poll.

The Bruins, unbeaten in 23 games, were named the No. 1 team by all 32 sports writers and broadcasters on The AP's national panel in the latest poll. This marked the seventh consecutive week that they were the unanimous choices.

UCLA faces Stanford Friday and California Saturday before concluding its regular season March 11 against Southern California.

Second-ranked Louisville and ninth-ranked Texas Western already have completed their regular campaigns. North Carolina, No. 3, has two games left, against South Carolina tonight and Duke Saturday.

Kansas, No. 4, has left on its schedule Nebraska Saturday, Colorado on March 6 and Kansas State March 11, Princeton, No. 5, plays its final season game tonight against Penn.

Sixth-ranked Western Kentucky, Houston, No. 7, and Boston College, No. 10, wind up their seasons Saturday. The Hilltoppers meet Middle Tennessee, Houston takes on the Air Force and Boston College goes against Holy Cross.

Eight-ranked Tennessee has three games remaining. The Vols tackle North Carolina State Wednesday, Louisiana State Saturday and Mississippi State next Monday.

The final poll will be taken after this Saturday's games and the results will be compiled next Monday.

Louisville held the runner-up in the latest balloting based on games through last Saturday. The Cardinals collected 253 points on the usual basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second, and etc.

North Carolina advanced two places to third after beating Maryland and Virginia Tech.

OUTDOORS by Don Neal

No Decision

It seems that Commissioner Robert Rankin, one of the nine members of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission, holds a different view of the current trout stocking program than I do. This fact was established quickly and emphatically in the few words we exchanged at a recent meeting during a short intermission.

Whether or not we could have brought our views closer to agreement if the discussion would have continued is hard to say. But we were interrupted, leaving the issue hanging in the air without either of us having stated our positions clearly.

However, the points made by the Commissioner are the same as those previously made by fish commission personnel, so I will assume that I am familiar with the line of thinking they endorse. And needless to say, this is a line of thinking that I cannot agree with.

To begin with, the Commissioner pointed out that a few years ago the sale of fishing licenses was on the decline and that only an increase in the amount of trout stocking had reversed the trend. In his words, "the Fish Commission is now a going concern."

I will agree that it is. But I would like to point out to the Commissioner that the increased trout stocking program he cites as a "lifesaver" was not made possible by an increase in the number of trout coming from state hatcheries. It was the direct result of a cooperative agreement reached with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service that provided a wealth of federal trout to build up the state stocking program.

The upward trend in the sale of fishing licenses and the implementation of the cooperative agreement were closely related.

If we could depend on the benefits of this agreement indefinitely, I would be more inclined to agree with the Commissioner's line of thinking. But rumors are already circulating that the federal agency is considering taking a large charge for the trout they supply. If this is true, the future of the trout stocking program in Pennsylvania fishermen are going to square a race with a license increase or a reduction of the trout stocking program.

Which brings up another point made by the Commissioner. That is, that the average fisherman who buys a license wants to catch fish. However, he didn't say that this average fisherman insisted that the fish he wants to catch must be trout, and I consider this to be a vital point.

I have contended for some time that the desire of the average fisherman to catch fish could be satisfied if we de-emphasized the importance of trout and emphasized the desirability of fishing for the warm water species. If this is done, I am convinced the trout stocking program could be halved without a drop in license sales (a matter of vital concern to the commission) and even an increase in license sales might be expected.

To do this successfully, though, we must first change our antiquated thinking that closes the seasons on these warm water species at the very time overall fishing interest and pressure is at a peak. These so-called "spawning" seasons are worthless in this modern age when a single hatchery can produce more fry than all of the streams in Pennsylvania, and do it at a reasonable cost.

What is really needed, I think, is an "opening day" that would include all game species—trout, bass, walleyes, muskies, northern pike—thus permitting the tremendous fishing pressure of the event to be spread over all of our fishable waters. And thus reducing the pressure on a trout stocking program that is presently taking a huge bite out of the fisherman's dollar, and is threatening to take even more.

There are those who might argue that stocking our streams with fry or fingerlings of the warm water species isn't practical. Then is it practical to think that the fry and fingerlings produced naturally during our "spawning" seasons will survive?

Others might argue that this is the time of the year when bass are on the nest, are very easily caught, and the future of this species could be threatened. Can these persons name one Pennsylvania bass stream that isn't presently threatened with an over-population? Or would they argue that we can't produce more of any species in our hatcheries than is presently being produced naturally in our streams?

And how many will argue it is better to maintain the present schedule, the status quo, and support a substantial increase in the license fee?

Perhaps, I think the time has come for the Pennsylvania Fish Commission to demonstrate the same ability for practical thinking they have in the past—a brand of foresight that has made them a leader among the fish commissions of the nation.

A sampling of hunters in Ohio showed that 66 per cent would happily pay more for licenses if the money was used for wildlife research and management. More than $72 million a year is now paid by hunters for licenses, tags and stamps.

CNW Regional Wrestling Tourney Pairings Listed

First round pairings for the PIAA Central Northwestern Regional Wrestling Tournament at Altoona Saturday were announced Monday.

District champions from four areas of Western Pennsylvania will compete for 12 berths to the PIAA State Finals at Penn State's Recreation Hall on March 11.

The afternoon session will start at 2 p.m., with the finals slated for 7:30 p.m.

The Regional tourney, one of four in the State this weekend, is held annually at Altoona's Jaffa Mosque. John Miller is tournament director. He also manages the State Championship Tournament.

Competing will be winners from Districts 5, 6, 9 and 10.

City Softball Loop To Import Pitchers

City Softball League directors continued to plan for the upcoming season at a meeting held last night at the American Legion, Umpires, opening day ceremonies were among the subjects discussed by officials and members of the loop present.

The league has adopted a plan of regularly assigned umpires for loop play and have received definite commitments from several of the county's top officials. Others will be contacted in the next few weeks to determine their availability.

President Ang Regina announced that one more team may be added to the circuit, assuring at least six clubs for league play this summer.

On the subject of pitching, the league has approved a plan to allow hurlers from other communities to play in order to add balance to the loop. At least one and possibly two teams do not have a veteran pitcher on their rosters.

League advisor Tony Tomassoni informed the members present that the boro plans on several improvements at the field this year. He indicated that additional playground facilities at Carbon Memorial Park are under consideration.

In other action, the members unanimously passed a motion to contribute $10 to the Gray-Y All-Star team's travel fund. Tomassoni matched the donation as a personal gift.

The league will meet again on Tuesday night, March 14 at the American Legion.

Keith Culbertson received an award from the league for his financial aid.

Mercer and Emporium Win Playoff

Emporium and Mercer moved one step closer to a showdown in the PIAA Class B playoffs by recording wins last night.

The Cameron County Red Raiders posted a 73-58 win over St. Marys at Bradford in the District 9-B semifinals. The Mustangs dropped West Middlesex in District 10-B semifinals at Farrell, 80-56.

Emporium will play East Brady of the Clarion County League on Friday at DuBois. Mercer will play the winner of the Cambridge Springs-Iroquois game being played tonight.

The Red Raiders are now 22-0 for the season. They traveled after one period, 12-11, moved into a tie at 14-14 and took over from there. They led the Flying Dutchmen at the half by a 28-24 score and iced the game in the fourth quarter by outscoring St. Marys 26-17.

Emporium, rulers of the Northern Tier League, placed four men in double figures. Dick Peterson led the way with 31 points. He hit mostly on jump shots from the right side and under the basket. He added seven points from the foul line.

Gary Fisher hit six field goals for 12 points. Jerry Joyce and Terry Dolan each had 10 points for the Red Raiders.

Don Wilhelm scored 24 points for the Flying Dutch. All his points came on field goals. Bud Brennan and Roger Hanes each tallied 10 for the losers.

Emporium made three more field goals, 30-27, and outscored the Dutchmen from the foul line by hitting on 13 of 19 compared to four of 13 for the Dutch.

High scoring Bob Rhoads tossed in 27 points for the Mustangs to lead them to their 21st win in 23 games.

Three other Mustangs hit double figures with Dave Knowlton scoring 16, Art Adair 12 and Dick Harris 11.

Cliff Allison led the Big Red with 15 points. Ted Selby and Dennis Chupak scored 13 and 12 points respectively for the losers.

The Mustangs took a 17-10 lead after one period. They outscored the Big Red by a 42-24 margin to take a 59-34 lead after three periods. In the final period the Mustangs were outscored 22-21.

Both teams shot 32 foul shots. Mercer hit 16 field goals to 20 for the Big Red.

Colavito Convinced

He's Up for Trade

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Rocky Colavito, Cleveland Indians outfielder, said yesterday he is convinced that General Manager Gabe Paul will trade him. "What else can I think?" asked Colavito at his home in Temple, Pa.

"There have been absolutely no negotiations between us. I haven't heard from him since he sent me a telegram last week and I can't remember the last time we talked."

Leading the balloting was Pat McClellan of the league champion East Forest Bears. He garnered a perfect total of 60.

Other first team members were Bruce Allen, Sparta; Bob Burlingame, Eisenhower; Gregg Holtz, Pleasantville; and Bob Troyer, Sparta. Burlingame and Holtz, both juniors, are 6-5.

The second team is made up of Randy Custer of West Forest, Elden Miller of Sparta, Bill Renton of East Forest, Ron Galmish of Pleasantville and Ron Knapp of Youngsville.

According to McClellan's coach, Chuck Myers, he was very deserving of the unanimous choice. McClellan set three scoring records at the Marienville institution during the past season.

He broke the season scoring record of 432 points by tallying 638 markers for an average of 27.7 points a game. He cracked the three-year scoring mark by hitting for an even 1,200 points three seasons. This broke the old mark set by Bill McClain a year ago. He also broke the single game scoring mark of 42 points. First, he hit for 43 against Eisenhower and came back late in the season to

Underclassmen Knights Cage

The 18-game slate that the Eisenhower Knights played was spotted with only four wins, but it was also spotted with the play of some fine underclassmen. The four wins posted by the Knights came over the Alumni, Pleasantville and Tidioute, twice.

Three times during the year the Knights were victims of 100-point, or better, barrages by the opposition. Sparta turned the trick twice and Sheffield reached it once.

With the dismal season gone, coach Bill Sherwood has plenty of experience and scoring punch coming back next season. Leading the way will be 6-5 junior Bob Burlingame. He averaged 22.6 points a game. Burlingame missed the final two games of the season with pneumonia.

Also back will be sophomore Barton Lohnes. He came on strong in league competition and should be able to lend an experienced hand in the backcourt next year. Lohnes averaged eight points a game for the year.

Sophomore Allen Swanson, who scored 76 points in 14 games mostly as a substitute, should be ready for a full time job in the front court.

Three of the five top scorers for the Knights were seniors. Second on the list was Gary Fry with 189 points in 17 games for an average of 11.1 points per game.

Dave Van Cise was a consistent eight-point a game man with 146 markers for the season. He finished third, four points better than Lohnes.

Fifth was Bill McFarland. He scored 108 points on the season. His best game was against Tidioute when he scored 14 points.

Other individual highs were: Burlingame, 35 against East Forest; Fry, 22 against Sparta; Van Cise, 21 in the season finale against Sparta; Lohnes, 22 against Tidioute; and Swanson, 13 against West Forest.

The Knights scored a total of 1,093 points for an average of 60.7 points a game. Their opposition did a little better by scoring 1,335 points for an average

Trailer Trucks Hit Station, Demolish It

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Two tractor-trailer trucks, northbound on Route 96 about a minute apart, teamed yesterday to destroy a gasoline service station about 15 miles north of here, State Police said.

Troopers said one truck skidded on a curve near Covert and knocked down several gasoline pumps before the vehicle skidded into a ditch across the road.

The driver of the second truck, seeking to avoid a collision as he rounded the curve, attempted to swerve behind the station. The truck skidded into the small structure, demolishing it and a parked automobile.

William Meyer of Binghamton, driver of the first truck, and Herman Quick of Belvidere, N.Y., driver of the second, escaped injury.

The station was owned by J. Aubrey Smith.

Judge Declines Hoffa's Request

PORT HURON, Mich. (AP) — A federal judge yesterday denied a request that Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa be allowed to stay out of prison on bond while his new trial motions are pending.

Judge Clifford O'Sullivan of the U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals said he had consulted by telephone with two other members of a three-judge panel before announcing the decision.

The action blunted one of the two latest legal maneuvers in Hoffa's attempt to escape jail on his conviction for jury-tampering.

A new trial motion was filed yesterday by Hoffa attorneys in Chattanooga, Tenn., as part of a two-pronged effort to keep Hoffa out of jail.

The U.S. Supreme Court turned down on Monday Hoffa's request that it review its decision not to rehear his first appeal.

The other Hoffa appeals are pending before U.S. circuit courts.

Hoffa did not appear in the Port Huron court yesterday.

His attorney, Bernard Milliman of St. Louis, said Hoffa had been on bond for some time and had "not absconded" from the court's jurisdiction and appeared whenever requested.

"No useful purpose would be served" by denying the request, Milliman argued.

During the argument, O'Sullivan said that it was possible that the bond could go on indefinitely if Hoffa continued appealing.

Justice Department attorney Theodore Ginsky argued that the legal moves by Hoffa's attorneys since his conviction have been aimed at delaying the union leader's prison sentence.

Ginsky said there was no reason Hoffa should be allowed "something everyone else is denied."

He said there appeared to be no limit to the number of appeals and other actions that could be taken to delay carrying out the sentence.

In Chattanooga, Hoffa attorneys submitted to U.S. Dist. Judge Frank W. Wilson a new trial motion with another petition to let Hoffa remain free on bail while the motion is being considered.

P. D. Makos of Washington, a Hoffa lawyer, indicated that efforts to keep the Teamsters boss out of jail were far from over.

"Those matters are appealable, as the way to the Supreme Court," he told newsmen in Chattanooga.

New Jersey Pushes For Gun Control Law

TRENTON (AP) — Gov. Richard J. Hughes said yesterday he will appeal to the governors of New York, Pennsylvania and Delaware to join New Jersey in keeping guns out of the hands of misfits.

Calling for a regional embargo on gun sales to former convicts, drug and alcohol addicts, the mentally unfit and other dangerous persons, the governor told a news conference he would discuss the issue with the chief executives of the neighboring states Thursday.

The four governors are scheduled to confer then in Dover, Del., at a meeting of the Delaware River Basin Commission.

New Jersey enacted a stiff gun control law last year despite a loud chorus of opposition from gun dealers and hunting groups. A lower court judge upheld the law's constitutionality in a recent test case.

Hughes said he intends to show the governors results of a poll indicating that the political power of gun dealers and rifle clubs was "nothing more than a myth."

"The lobbies," he asserted, "make tremendous noise... it's a deafening noise but public opinion is strongly in favor of gun control."

Since the New Jersey law went into effect, the governor said, about 5 per cent of applicants for permits have been rejected for various reasons. Hughes' figures conflicted with a recent disclosure by Assistant Attorney Gen. Joseph Hoffman that 540 of 26,133 applications—or two per cent—had been rejected as of Feb. 15.

Russian Ship Sinks at Sea; 57 Dead, Lost

HANSTHOLM, Denmark (AP) — A Soviet fishing factory ship sprang a leak Tuesday and sank in a raging storm off Denmark's north coast, and 57 crewmen were dead or missing, including the captain.

By nightfall, only 22 crewmen had been rescued of the 79 the Danish Royal Navy said were aboard. In the bitter cold no hope was held out for any more survivors.

The 2,435-ton Tukan radioed at 3 a.m. that she had sprung a leak in her engine room as she battled high seas in the Skagerrak, the strait separating southern Norway and northern Denmark. The engine room flooded and many crewmen abandoned ship.

Consular Treaty Bill Is Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — A consular treaty with the Soviet Union that some say may influence the war in Vietnam won approval yesterday by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

A 15-4 vote sent the controversial pact to the Senate floor for consideration there possibly in a week or two.

Opponents such as Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., say the treaty may prolong the war by resulting in increased trade with the Soviet Union which furnishes weapons to North Vietnam. He said he will continue to fight against it on the Senate floor.

Move to Quash High Rate Auto Insurance in State

HARRISBURG (AP)—State Insurance Commissioner David O. Maxwell said yesterday he would take steps to eliminate what he called the abuse of high risk auto insurance in Pennsylvania.

Maxwell said he was aiming at providing insurance at an equitable rate to Pennsylvania drivers who can't purchase auto insurance in the regular market.

"My initial step has been to call for a meeting of the Governing Committee of the Pennsylvania Automobile Assigned Risk Plan," Maxwell said.

Purpose of the session, he added, is to discuss expansion of the present plan which he said now provides only the basic auto liability coverage necessary to comply with the financial responsibility requirements of the state. The Pennsylvania Automobile Assigned Risk Plan is a voluntary method by which all companies writing auto insurance share proportionately the risks who are unable to acquire insurance in the regular market.

Maxwell said he was "gravely" concerned with the "abnormally large number of citizens in Pennsylvania who have been victims of high risk automobile insurance companies which have gone into bankruptcy."

"Matters to be discussed in the meeting will be the inclusion of comprehensive fire, theft and collision, medical payments and the availability of increased liability limits in the Pennsylvania Automobile Assigned Risk Plan.

"I plan to check more closely the operations of the Pennsylvania Automobile Assigned Risk Plan to see if it can be made more readily available to all who desire this insurance protection. Presently, less than 1 per cent of the drivers in Pennsylvania are insured under this Plan."

'Y' Maps Camp Plans, Counselors Are Sought

The Warren YMCA Camp Committee announced that applications are now available for the summer camping program of the YMCA. Boys and girls may both apply for Junior and Senior Counselors at Day Camp and Resident Camp.

A one-week Canadian Canoe trip starts the summer camping program in June, after school is out. Following this, a two week Girls Day Camp is carried on, followed by Boys Day Camp, and possibly a one week Coed Day camp.

The last two weeks of August the Y runs a Resident Camp on Lake Chautauque, which has been a great success.

Junior Counselors must be 14 years old in order to work at the camps. These counselors are not salaried, but do get good training for becoming possible Senior Counselors.

Senior Counselors, age 16 and over, are salaried and carry on the program of the camps. Both boys and girls are needed for day camp and resident camps.

This year will mark the first year the Y has had Counselors in training, which are boys 13 years old, which have been to Y camp before. These boys should apply as the other counselors do, and will be selected as the staff is. These CIT's will not have to pay the full tuition fee, and will be assigned to certain areas of the camp program.

Clarion Man Named to State Coal-Land Post

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Department of Mines and Mineral Industries announced Tuesday the appointment of J. Wes Blakely as public relations director for the department, a newly created position.

His appointment to the $12,075-a-year job is effective Thursday. Blakely, a former newspaper editor at Bluefield, W. Va., had been a member of the public relations staff of former Gov. William W. Scranton.

Blakely resides in suburban Wormleysburg. The department also announced the appointment of Orville H. Lerch of Clarion as director of the Coal Land Improvement Fund. This job also pays $12,075.

Lerch has been an agent supervisor for the State Revenue Department.

The fund was designated by the 1965 legislature to purchase privately owned strip-mined land in the state could be eligible for restoration under this program.

Lerch presently is chairman of the Clarion County Republican Executive Committee.

Bequest To Library Announced

William F. Clinger, Jr., president of the board of control of the Warren Library Association has announced the receipt of a bequest from the estate of Alice E. Still Branch in memory of Charles F. Still.

Mr. Clinger noted that, since its formation, the Warren Library Association has been the recipient of twenty-eight such bequests, varying in amounts from $100 to $25,000. These are added to the library's endowment funds, income from which is used as operating capital for the library.

Mr. Clinger also stated that the Warren Library is recognized as one of the outstanding libraries in Pennsylvania as evidenced by its selection as one of the thirty District Library Centers in the state which provide library services to several counties. He said this recognition and the high quality of service afforded Warren patrons are, in large part, attributable to the generous testamentary and lifetime gifts which have been made to the library by Warren area citizens.

Titusville Man Gets Contract At Pymatuning

MEADVILLE—The contract for food and locker concession at the new bathhouse at Deris Beach on Pymatuning Lake west of Linesville was awarded officially Friday to Robert F. Wilson of Titusville.

Raymond Azzato, Pymatuning State Park superintendent, reported the contract awarding based on Wilson's lone bid of $610 a year for the concession right. Bids were opened Feb. 15 at Harrisburg.

The contract runs for five years with annual renewal options for another five years. Wilson, who is owner of Titusville News Co., said he will spend an estimated $20,000 to install 300 coin-operated (25 cents) lockers, electric wiring, cooking and refrigeration equipment for food preparation and a variety of vending machines. The food service facility will handle snacks, beverages and similar items but no dinners or other full meals.

VISIT GENERATING PLANT

Pupils of the fourth grade of Jefferson Elementary School paid an interesting visit to the generating plant of the Pennsylvania Electric Company at Starbuck yesterday morning. Roger Nuhfer, who directed the tour around the utility's big generating facility, later addressed the group as shown in the above picture. Mr. Nuhfer brought out many interesting facts in connection with the operation of the plant and the huge amount of coal used in the production. He cited that a 100 watt bulb to burn 10 hours requires a pound of coal. (Photo by Mansfield)

Civil Service Exams

A total of 2,326 applicants will take State civil service examinations to be administered Saturday. Harry P. Griffiths, state civil service executive director, said more than 1,400 candidates are eligible to take the test for student aide and caseworker aide, summer positions in various Commonwealth agencies. Others scheduled are 522 for draftsmen and 345 for employment interviewers and representatives. Eighty-two applicants will take tests in Erie.

Teen-Agers Injured

Two teen-agers suffered minor injuries when their car skidded into a creek on Route 155 at 7 p.m. Monday. Treated and released from the Port Allegany Hospital were the driver, Leonard Mahon, 19, of Austin and Floyd R. O'Dell, 18, Coudersport. Police said Mahon was traveling south in Eldred borough when his car went off the right side of the road and into the creek.

Public Relations?

A trucking company whose truck was involved in a fatal accident last week in Erie County needs some public relations counsel. It sent a certified letter to the father of the young man killed asking about repairing the damage to the tractor-trailer unit before the victim had even been buried. The letter was dated the day after the accident.

Machines Looted

Thieves took an undetermined amount of cash from the Holiday Inn at 18th and Peach in Erie and the Pennsylvania Roundhouse over the weekend. Cyclonians Head Sport Show Here

Negotiations have been completed for the appearance of the Cyclonians at the annual Kiwanis Sports Show at Warren Area High School April 1 and 2.

The Pennsylvania Bank and Trust Company will present this internationally celebrated team of adagio dancers in performances on the two days.

The Cyclonians are the only team in the United States performing a full and complete adagio routine on the high silver unicycles. The team had recent appearances on all the major network television shows among countless appearances for many leading hotels and supper clubs.

Plans for the 1967 show are well advanced, it was disclosed at the "early bird" planning meeting held by the club committee in charge Monday morning. Cliff Terry is the chairman of the project with Russell and George Templeton assisting as vice chairmen.

Some of the entertainment which will augment the scores of displays and exhibits of all kinds of outdoor sports equipment will include a fashion show by Morrison's and a 40-minute show entitled "Mr. Pennypacker and His Talking Machine," which will be presented by the Bell Telephone Co.

Three Sentenced In Crawford Court

TITUSVILLE—Three area men were sentenced during a session of Crawford County court at Meadville Monday. Edwin White Henton, Spartansburg, charged with driving without a license, was fined $100 and costs. Kenneth George Herman of Titusville, charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, received $150 fine and costs and had his operator's license suspended for a year, while Richard James Kennedy of Titusville, was fined $200 and costs and given two years probation.

Rep. Vigorito Again Cites Big Cost of Canal

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The true cost of the proposed Lake Erie-Ohio River Canal could soar far beyond original estimates, a Pennsylvania congressman charged Tuesday.

Rep. Joseph P. Vigorito of Erie said the Army Engineers "can legally throw away as much as $257 million on the ditch."

The public, the Democratic congressman said, is being "misinformed and deceived" about the cost of the canal, which has been set at $1.025 billion.

Vigorito said he had been told by the engineers that the corps could award contracts to private companies up to 25 per cent over official estimates.

This, he said, would mean an additional $256 million.

Vigorito spoke before the Community Relations Committee of the Pittsburgh Railroads. Several eastern railroads are among the forefront of opponents of the canal.

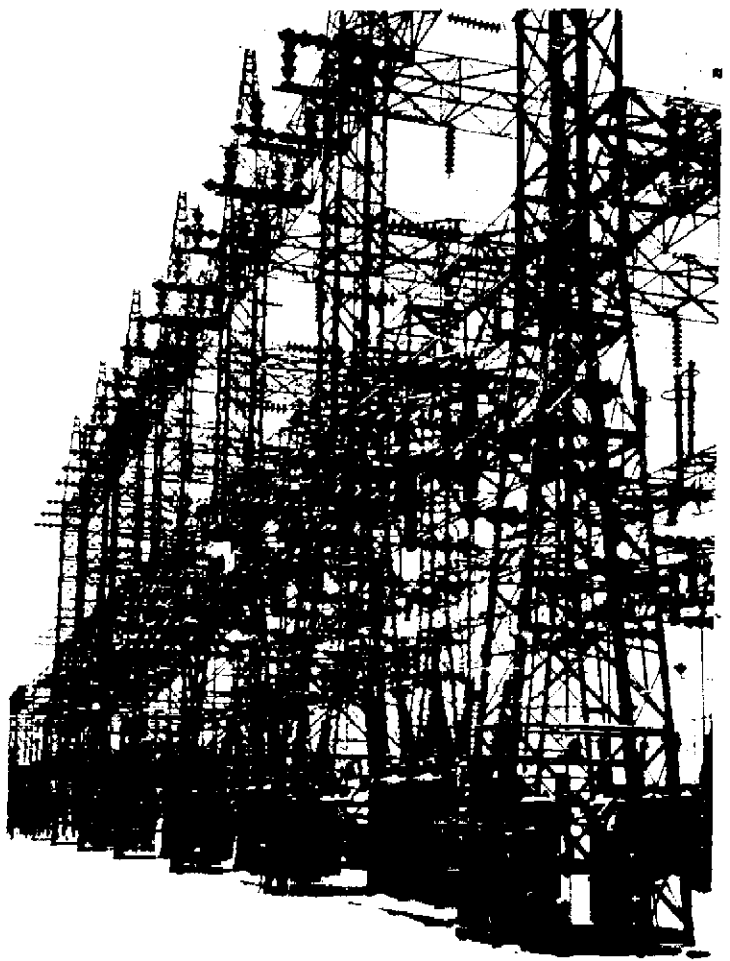

The canal would run from near Cleveland to the Youngstown, Ohio, area then follow the course of two rivers to the Ohio River. Backers say it would provide Great Lakes shipping with a low-cost link to the Gulf of Mexico.

Town Crier

... By Les Rickey

The entire country has gone batty over cards. Not the game. Just cards. Business cards, humor cards, cue cards, credit cards, IBM cards, calling cards, identification cards, library cards, membership cards, cards with calendars, registration cards...the list is almost endless.

Just look in your wallet or pocketbook or whatever vehicle you use for cards. There they are, millions of them, each and every one with some specific purpose. That is, if you're either lucky or meticulous about cleaning out your wallet periodically.

It fell to my lot recently to flip through my wallet and clean it out, getting rid of some incriminating telephone numbers and the like. I was amazed at how thick it was, in spite of the fact that there wasn't a single negotiable bill inside.

It was filled, believe me, with cards. I had cards in that wallet that promised me admittance to the Lawn and Tennis Club in Hong Kong, providing I made it there by the end of 1957. There was a business card from a man in San Francisco who sold shoes. I had another calling card from an airplane salesman in a town I've never even heard of, let alone been in.

One of the cards particularly held my attention. It was from a night club on the West Coast. On one side it had the name of the club and there was a V-shaped notch in the middle. From this notch, you hung the card on the glass. The other side said, "You touch this drink before I get back and I'll break your wrist."

I guess some cards do fulfill a function. It's just that there are so blasted many of them these days.

A GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY dinner dance is now in the planning stages by members of the Conewago Valley Country Club. A committee comprised of Messieurs and Mesdames William Hill Jr., James Frantz, Carl Tracy, Gordon Kay and Robert Gibb, met at the Hills' on Friday night and set the date for April 22nd. One of the things they want to do is gather snapshots and other memorabilia of events in years gone by at the country club. These will be used effectively to add to the enjoyment of this night of dining, dancing and memories. Anyone having such items, and willing to lend them (they will be handled with tender, loving care) is asked to call Barbara Tracy at 726-0584, or, Lou Hill at 723-7543.

FROM ONOVILLE comes word that the Robert E. Franks have announced the engagement of their elder daughter, Susan Carol, to Gordon Bush of Ellicottville, N. Y. The bride-elect is attending State University College at Buffalo, her fiance, a 1961 graduate of Eisenhower High School, has served as a paratrooper in the U. S. Army and is now with Marlin-Rockwell Corp., in Jamestown.

AND ANOTHER EVENING OF DINING OUT has been added to the calendar. This one will be a "Flap Jack Supper" with sausages, maple syrup, applesauce, coffee or milk and is to be served on the night of Saturday, March 4th, from 5 to 8 p. m. Where? At the Akeley Methodist Church. The event is being sponsored by the Adult Fellowship group for the benefit of the church building fund. There is no set charge, but donations will be accepted.

MINIATURES: WHS Class of '41 is holding another meeting tomorrow at the home of Betty Loney Geer, 10 Yankee Bush road, Starbrick, at 7:30 p. m. Questionnaire letters will be composed for mailing to all classmates.

Women of the Moose donated to the Heart Fund at their meeting last week, and also, to the March of Dimes. The next meeting will be on Wednesday, March 8th, when the Moosehaven Chapter Night committee will be in charge.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The man I am about to marry is 20 years old, I am 19. The problem is his mother.

Louise sets the alarm clock for 6:45 a. m., which would give him plenty of time to get ready, pick me up at 7:45, take me to my job and get to his place of employment by 8:45.

About three mornings a week his dear mother thinks he doesn't get enough rest, so she tiptoes into his bedroom and turns off his alarm clock. Of course he oversleeps, which causes him to be late for work. Naturally, I am late also.

Louise has begged his mother to stay out of his room and keep her hands off his alarm but she continues to do it anyway.

Please tell me what to do. This problem has caused some very bitter arguments between us. — BURNED UP

DEAR BURNED: Tell Louise to put the clock under the mattress if he doesn't want Mom to turn off the alarm.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I couldn't believe my eyes when I read your advice to the wife whose husband takes her to cocktail parties and then proceeds to ignore her. You told her to go with him and make conversation on her own, or else stay home and stop complaining. There was even a hint of praise for the louse for taking his wife along.

The notion that men must go to cocktail parties for business reasons is as phony an excuse as "sitting up with a sick friend." Cocktail parties are a substitute for getting stoned in some crummy bar. Only the furniture is different.

So why don't you stick up for us women for a change? You are so prejudiced in favor of men that I'm beginning to wonder if maybe you aren't a man yourself. — THUMBS DOWN ON LANDERS

DEAR THUMBS: A husband who abandons his wife at cocktail parties is not going to change because I tell him to. Especially when HE didn't ask for my advice, it was his wife who wrote. I repeat — make it on your own or stay home.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a widow whose husband died almost three years ago. I have a friend who lost his wife two years ago. We have known each other for a long time and I have seen Mr. Solo around town a lot lately — also unaccompanied.

A few weeks ago I wrote Mr. Solo a note suggesting that since he is without a wife and I am without a husband we ought to get together — perhaps I could cheer him up. He did not respond to my note and I feel that maybe I made a fool of myself.

What should I say when we next meet? It is just a matter of time before we run into one another again. — DURHAM WIDOW

DEAR DURHAM: Don't say anything. You've said too much already. If you give a small dinner party and wish to include Mr. Solo, along with others, fine — but a widow who offers to "cheer up" an unmarried man might be classed as overly aggressive. Nothing clobbers cupid quite as dead as a pushy female.

Lenten Series Begins This Evening At Trinity Memorial

The first in a Lenten Series at Trinity Memorial Episcopal Church is scheduled this evening.

Based on Robert Short's book, "The Gospel According to Peanutz," four Lenten study classes will be held in the parish parlor with the Rev. Richard H. Baker, rector.

Tonight's subject title is "The Whole Trouble." Subsequent classes on March 8, 15 and 22, are titled "Aaughh," "Good Grief" and "Hound of Heaven." The classes convene at 7:30 p. m., following 7 p. m.

Evensong, 6:15 p. m., thirteen dinner will also be scheduled each Wednesday, tonight's affair arranged by members of the adult choir.

Mr. Baker noted that arrangements have been made that the entire family may participate in one way or other. The junior choir rehearses in the choir room — this being comprised of boys and girls in 4th to 6th grades. Younger parishioners may see a film while even the littlist will be provided nursery care.

Annual LPNAP Meeting To Hold Election Of Officers

The annual meeting of the Warren County Division of New 4-H Club Formed Here

A new 4H Club, the Southwest 4H Cattle Rustlers, was formed Friday. Concerned with the raising of dairy cattle, the club is made up of members from the Pittsfield-Garland area.

At a meeting Friday at the Elmer Blystone residence, RD2 Pittsfield, club officers were elected. President is George Lynch; vice president, Gerry Blystone; secretary, Joyce Blystone; treasurer, Tim Curry; social chairman, David Taydus; song leader, Robin Schell; and news reporter, Rodney Danielson.

L.P.N.A.P. will take place in the social rooms of Trinity Memorial Episcopal Church at 7 o'clock on Monday, March 6. Members are asked to make particular note of the time change.

Election of officers will take place at the meeting with the following offices to be filled: President, secretary, nominating committee for 1968, and 3 to the board of directors. The usual business meeting will also be held.

Afterwards there will be an illustrated program on Cerebral Palsy with a speaker from Erie.

FROM HOUSE OF DIOR

Fashions From European Houses

The fashion shows in France are now over, for this season anyway, and on this page may be seen some of the designs which may, or may not influence the kind of clothes you wear.

In the upper left, two creations of Jacques Heim may be seen in tendency sketches. Both are somehow reminiscent of an earlier time.

From the House of Christian Dior, designer Marc Bohan, showed an African collection which some thought, because the theme had originated in New York City two years ago, was by now a little overdone. However the question must be debatable because Yves St. Laurent stressed the African theme, too, in his show later.

In the picture, above center, one of the elegantly luxurious African fashions from the House of Dior is seen. It is a short evening dress from their spring-summer collection, fashioned as a slim shift in pastel yellow and white with one arm and the overdress entirely covered with ostrich feathers repeating the pattern and color of the fabric. Even the wig worn by the model is of African inspiration and the shoes are gold kid.

At the upper right, the two tendency sketches show the new line of fashions presented by Captain Edward Molyneux at the Paris spring-summer high fashion collections. Molyneux' hemlines were short by his standards — baring the knee and nothing more — but looked longish after the too brief miniskirts and the Italian collections.

The slim slacks feature a unique cuff that Molyneux raised to the ankle in front and dipped to the heel in back.

Directly to the left, Coco Chanel included this evening suit in her 1967 spring-summer collection. The costume is in a "molten" gold lame and straw fabric. It has a wrap-over skirt and a long, slender high-collared jacket with bracelet-length sleeves. A "crown" of real hair is entwined with a gold ribbon. The trademark of Chanel's clothes has always been elegance and simplicity — They wear well, and long.

To the right another Dior, or Marc Bohan, creation showing the African influence. This is an unusual afternoon dress of brown Surah, with its striking "totem pole" insert of printed silk, black on a white background. The dress has a wide double pleated panel at the back contrasting with the flat front. The neck ornament, bracelet and the headdress all complement the costume, which also in its markings suggests a Bengal Tiger.

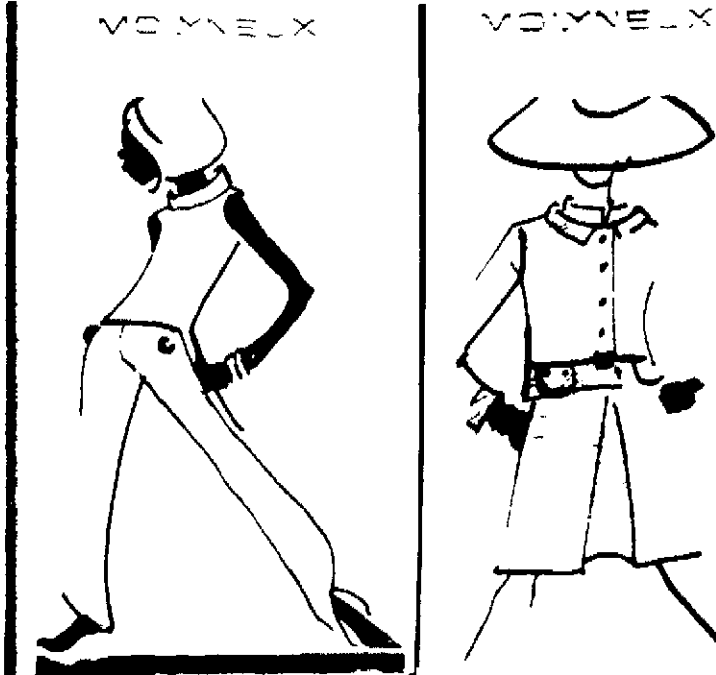

In some of his designs, Bohan included gold chain belts which often had dangling animals' teeth or African amulets. His collection included suits with culotte skirts or pleated ones; tent dresses and tent coats with contrasting leather yokes and trim. His accompanying jewelry was apt to be of gold or wood.

Turning to the left once more, here are hats which hark back to the 1920's. Designed by Philippe Heim these chapeaux for the 1967 spring and summer are of soft felt with wide, graceful, droopy rims. A couple are further glamorized with ornaments of sparkling stones. Mr. Heim is shown with models from left to right, Noelle Noblecourt; Christiane Minnazzoli; and, Pascale Aurret.

And last, a tendency sketch shows, or indicates, an oriental influence. But it doesn't come from the workshop of a fashion designer of the Far East, but from that of the Dutch-born designer, Molenaar. It was shown along with the rest of his 1967 spring summer collection in Paris.

Along with the other greats in the fashion world, Givenchy's collection exhibited his latest fashions, which were summed up as "elegant, beautiful, superb"; but, he showed to buyers only at that time. His presentation for the press takes place this month. In the meantime, it is said that his clothes are soft and feminine; coats have restrained dolman or raglan sleeves — always flattering if one isn't overweight. He too uses gold chains for extra emphasis, and leather belts; sometimes in combination. His suits have mostly sleeveless weskits. The suits plaid or checked with the vest plain. He likes navy too, and showed navy worsted suits striped in white.

A New You by Emily Wilkens

In The New You' Mailbag

DEAR EMILY WILKENS:
MINIMIZE THE MINI
What is a fashionable skirt length for an 18-year-old girl? I've just started my first job and I want to be sure to look right.

Barbara J.
What a question these days! Hopefully, you'll choose a lady-like length that looks proper sitting as well as standing. For on-the-job good looks, I'd suggest wearing your skirts slightly longer than you might for casual dates or shopping with friends. Be sure that the skirt length you choose does the most for your head-to-toe look. . . and take a peek at your rear view, as well, please!

HELP THE HURT
I can't remember exactly how many years since I have gone window shopping due to the terrible plantar's wart I have on the sole of my foot. I've been to many doctors. I've done everything for it and I can't seem to get rid of it. I'm not enjoying life very much. Can you suggest any way I can erase this miserable pain?

Lois M.
You have my sympathies. . . I know just how painful this type of wart or callus can be. There are several new techniques that have been developed, such as electric surgery, so you might try a specialist one more time.

However, in the meantime, if you touch the wart with tincture of green soap (you can buy this in any pharmacy) you'll frequently get effective and instant relief from the hurt. Do try it—you have nothing to lose but your pain.

SCHOLASTIC TACTICS
What makeup do you think a high school girl should wear during the day?

Jane L.
Wear only the makeup you absolutely need to look your best. This depends on your own skin and coloring, of course. If you have any blemishes, a medicated cover-up will camouflage and help heal at the same time.

Consider what your classmates are doing, too. Generally, though, a light powder or base and lip gloss or light lipstick should make the most of you. If your eyelashes lack punch, try a dark pomade or light coat of mascara.

RIGHTING WRONG LIGHTENING
Recently I made my brown hair several shades lighter which brought out reddish highlights. I don't wish to continue lightening it, so how can I make the growing out process as unnoticeable as possible?

Mrs. Nancy H.
Use a rinse or light tint to bring your hair as near to the original color as possible. This will help you cover your unhappiness until your hair grows out.

Hints From Heloise

Hard Water Hint

DEAR HELOISE:
In our location we have very hard water, and I always use a water softener (a granulated kind) in my wash water.

We also use the public washateria. So . . . when I am gathering up my wash, I get out my husband's shirts, take them to the kitchen or bathroom, and sprinkle water and some granulated water softener along the collars.

I pick up one corner of the collar and rub across the soil "line" with it. I do this from both ends of the collar. The granules serve as an abrasive and when they dissolve, they soften the body oil that is in the collar.

I leave this on the collar and by the time I wash it, the oil has softened and dissolved enough to completely wash out of the collar.

No more old dirty collars in my wash. I wouldn't be caught without my water softener.

Betty Outman

Dear Miss Betty:
You not only hit the nail on the head, but you hit the line around our necks!

We tested your hint in a hard water area and it was fabulous.

While we were in that area, we also tested washing windows. We found out some of the streaks left on windows were caused by using the hard water.

By putting water softener in a pail of water along with our cleaning agent we got sparkling clean windows, too. It sure helped eliminate the streaks.

And we thank you for helping us.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE:

Your nylon net is for the birds. You can't fool me. Sparrows had a nest in a down spout drain on our house, and in the nest was a piece of nylon net.

Yellow was their chosen color. I wonder where they got it.

Edna Colwill

DEAR HELOISE:

Recently one of your readers suggested that the best way to avoid broken fingernails from pulling pins out of pin-on price tags, was to use a wooden clothespin to remove the pin.

There is a much simpler and faster way to extract the bent pin without using any tool. Clasp the bottom of the price ticket with the thumb and forefinger of both hands. Tear the ticket up through the middle, going up with the right hand and down with the left.

The pin will come out with the right half of the ticket. As the leading manufacturer of pin-on tickets, we know from long experience how simple this removal is, if done correctly.

Betrothal Announcements Made

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Beedle of Chandler's Valley announce the engagement of their daughter, Rebecca Ann, to John Edward Eggleston, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Eggleston of Chandler's Valley.

Miss Beedle is a 1965 graduate of Eisenhower High School and is presently employed at Sylvania Electric products. Mr. Eggleston is a 1962 graduate of Eisenhower High School and is also a graduate of Edinboro State College. He is now a member of the faculty at Warren Area High School, teaching History.

A summer wedding is planned by Miss Deborah Jean Lucas and her fiancé, Mr. James Alberth, whose engagement has been announced by her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Marshall P. Lucas of Main street, East Aurora, N. Y.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Alberth of Tidioute.

The bride-elect is a graduate of the Meyer Memorial Hospital School of Nursing. Her fiancé is a graduate of Bryant and Stratton Business Institute.

Cable Hollow

Friday evening the Youth Fellowship of Cable Hollow EUB Church met for a work session on several projects, one of which was the repairing of the green hymnals which was completed.

The youth are having a Bible Learning Contest, which includes the memorizing of the Books of the Bible, the Beatitudes, and the Ten Commandments. Awards are to be presented on April 2.

All youth are urged to attend the District Rally on Saturday, March 11, at Mayville, N. Y. Saturday evening the M & M Sunday School Class met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Niver on Fox Hill, for a taffy pull. The class president, Edna Gage, called a short business meeting and the host served a luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Gray and Mr. and Mrs. William Summer were at the Thru-Way Lanes in Buffalo on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Burford and daughters, Barbara and Karen, on Saturday went to the Thru-Way Bowling Lanes, also. While in the area they visited Mr. Burford's sisters and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Williams in Sandborn, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Casimer Radonski in Niagara Falls, N. Y. The Burford family returned home on Sunday evening.

Founders Day At South Street PTA

The South Street School PTA met this Monday evening with the classroom visitation followed by the regular meeting and a Founders Day program. New members of the teaching staff were introduced: Mrs. Sharon Rieder, kindergarten; Mrs. Barbara Atkins, fourth grade; and Mr. William Rollinson, fifth grade.

It was announced that the Sixth grade has more candy for sale to help finance the students' spring trip to Niagara Falls. The program for the April meeting of the PTA will be given by Dr. John C. Urbaitus of Warren State Hospital.

The date of the annual Ice Cream Festival was also announced for Wednesday, May 3.

James Frantz, deputy director of Warren County Civil Defense, and projectionist Archie Hunter, showed the film and gave commentation on "New Frontiers in Civil Defense" and, "The Alaskan Earthquake Disaster".

Refreshments were served by Mrs. David Berdine and Mrs. Donald Lyle.

Pandemonium and bacon salad is a favorite dish in the French province of Champagne.

A well conceived thrust enabled West to pierce South's armor and deliver a fatal blow to the latter's false contract.

The auction was highly competitive and West made a good decision when he refused to sell out cheaply to the opposition. Observe that the five heart bid is a very cheap save inasmuch as that contract can be defeated by only one trick. North's values were primarily distributional and he resisted to five spades.

West reasoned that the prospects for defeating five pades hinged on the defense being able to cash three tricks in hearts and clubs. It appeared likely from the auction that one of the opponents held a singleton heart in which case West's quota would call for two club tricks.

If either held the king of clubs it was desirable to put East on lead for a play thru South. West feared that if he made the normal opening of the ace of hearts it would be left to him to initiate the attack in clubs and an essential unit of time might thereby be lost.

West accordingly opened the three of hearts. East played the ten and the he was somewhat surprised to hold the trick he promptly made the indicated shift to a club and West cashed out in the suit to defeat the contract.

Observe that if West leads the ace of hearts originally he must cash the ace of clubs immediately to prevent South from scoring an overtrick for dummy's diamond suit will provide declarer with all the tricks he requires as soon as trumps are drawn.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look L. the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars. FOR WEDNESDAY, MARCH 1, 1967

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)--Better cooperation and/or a new offering indicated soon. Once you have checked the latter's reliability, do not hesitate to accept. Be calm in "trying" moments.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)--Planetary aspects mostly auspicious, but accuracy and forethought must spark all decisions moves. Be sure also to investigate new propositions carefully.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)--You can make more progress than may at first seem possible. Once you appraise situations, put your shoulder to the wheel and get going. You may top an old record.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)--Don't wait for opportunity, break ground and make an attractive setting or it. Personality and demeanor will count.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)--Tendencies to avoid this day: Over-loading your schedule, hasty decisions, confusion and making drastic changes in projects now running smoothly.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)--You may face moments of uncertainty; Stand firmly against wavering and doubting. Concentrate on significant issues without neglecting minor items.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)--The winds may blow hot then cold, strong then diminish. You remain stable, knowing, watchful. Fine possibilities for your well-directed efforts

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22)--Don't lean on anyone else's ability when your own is so potent, but be sure you DO accept proffered assistance and plans from those who can help.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)--Spend and devise programs judiciously, not to satisfy temporary whims. Do not stretch the budget.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)--Devote your day to complete routine matters rather than attempting long-range undertakings. A good period for advancing in business.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)--You may be offered an unusual proposition. Study all angles, and accept only after full consideration and careful reckoning of possible outcomes.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)--Note Aquarius; your outlook similar. Bring due pressure to bear in "weak" areas, but stand by calmly where necessary delays occur.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a bright, quick mind and willingness to put tremendous energy into any worthwhile endeavor. You are an excellent worker in the fields of art, the law, medicine and government. You devise new, more efficient methods, and like to have all enjoy the fruits of your endeavors. Avoid strain and anxiety as you stride ahead. Birthdays of: Augustus Saint-Gaudens, Irish-Amer. sculptor, Harry Belafonte and Dinah Shore, singers.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

PSYCHIC STARVATION

A 23-year-old stenographer developed an aversion to food. She began to lose weight and within a year was down to skin and bones and had to be fed thru a tube. The same thing happened to a 30-year-old housewife whose weight dropped from 136 to 63 pounds. Both had been healthy, but their families and physicians could not persuade them to eat.

What makes individuals starve themselves in this way? These two women developed hysterical aversion to food as a result of an emotional disturbance. Most victims of anorexia nervosa are young females and 7 out of 10 are under 26. The condition usually escapes detection until it is well advanced. In the early stages it may be mistaken for a stomach or glandular disorder and most of the tests and treatment are directed along this line.

Psychic loss of appetite comes on gradually but as it gains momentum the individual has a real obsession on eating. There is a repugnance for food associated with many morbid ideas relative to what food does to the body.

In addition, menstruation stops (amenorrhea) and this, when combined with loss of appetite (anorexia) and weight, completes the triad of symptoms that characterizes the disturbance. Although many physicians find it difficult to believe that nervousness is responsible, psychiatric care has led to cures.

We know that nervousness affects appetite. All of these sufferers need psychiatric attention to help overcome the fear of eating. Institutional care is necessary when the illness is severe because shock treatment may be required. Recovery is a slow process and many years may elapse before they learn to eat normally.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

TOMORROW: Removing Inhaled Objects.

Two Youths Get 10-25 Year Terms

MEADVILLE — Two youths who burglarized a rural store, then set fire to the building, Monday were given 10 to 25 year prison terms by Judge F. Joseph Thomas in Crawford County Court.

Fining each defendant $25 and costs, Judge Thomas told Charles Ray Hodges, 20, of Erie, and Francis Basil Allen, 19, of Cambridge Springs, that they were "equally guilty."

Both youths had earlier pleaded guilty to the charges in connection with a break-in at the Roberts store at Beaver Center last Oct. 28. The pair set fire to the building after the break-in.

Judge Thomas asked both youths "what would you expect a judge to do if someone stole from your store and set fire to it?" They had no answer.

"I'M A BETTER FIGHTER, BUT HE HAD A LONGER STICK!"

St. Marys Man Killed In Crash

ST. MARYS — Injuries sustained in a crash on Byrnedale Hill late Monday afternoon caused the death of Richard Fritz, 43, of S. St. Marys St., at Andrew Kaul Memorial Hospital at 8:40 Monday evening.

Fritz was a passenger in a car operated by Raymond B. Frank, 46, of 243 Brussels St., who was taken to the same hospital with facial lacerations.

The driver was northbound when his vehicle skidded across the road and struck a tractor-trailer operated by Joel Schlegel, 24, of Phillipsburg, who was not injured.

State Trooper James F. Jackson of Ridgway is conducting an investigation into the accident which is reported to have occurred on Rte. 255, eight miles south of St. Marys.

Girl Hurt in Crash

OIL CITY—Monday's snowfall brought hazardous driving conditions in the area and was the cause of several accidents in Clarion county.

Linda Fay Cochran, 18-year-old Knox RD 2 girl, was the most seriously injured in the series of highway mishaps. She was hurt in a two-car crash and is in the intensive care unit of Oil City Hospital, where her condition is reported as serious.

SEEK PARTS IN YOUNGSMILE PLAY

Youngsville High School juniors are trying out for parts in "Father of the Bride," a comedy written by Caroline Francke based on Edward Streeter's novel. The story centers around a father who panics when he discovers his "little" girl is going to be married to a young fellow whose name he doesn't even know. The play will be presented by the Youngsville Junior Class on April 7 in YHS auditorium. Members of the class seeking parts in the offering are shown above reading from the script. Mary Ann Gallmeyer is in charge. (Photo by Mansfield)

Ludlow Youth Wins Kane High Honors

"A Call to Holy Living" was the sermon topic for Rev. Carl F. Eliason's sermon Sunday morning at 11. The choir, under the direction of Mrs. Mabelle Nelson, sang the anthem "O Saviour of the World."

A gift of $500 has been received from the family of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson in their memory for the Cemetery Fund.

An interesting meeting was held by the Ludlow Sportsman's Club in the Legion Hall Wednesday evening. Guest speaker was the well known district forest ranger, Larry Stotz, from Sheffield. The program included a slide lecture on wildlife, timber management and clear cutting.

The Priscilla Unit of Moriah Church met Wednesday afternoon in the church parlors with Miss Tillie Olson leading the scripture lesson. Hostess was Mrs. John G. Johnson who served coffee and dessert.

The executive committee of the American Legion Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. Enoch Nelson Tuesday evening to make plans for the American Legion birthday party to be held at the Legion Hall this evening at 6:30 o'clock in the form of a thirteen supper, meat and dessert will be furnished by the Auxiliary. The American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary sponsored a "record hop" for the teenagers at the Legion Hall Saturday evening with a very fine attendance with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kearney as chaperones. Refreshments were served.

Heart Sunday was observed on Sunday, Feb. 26, in Hamilton Township with Miss Gladys Morelli as chairman and Miss Millie Morelli as co-chairman. The workers included: Mrs. Ward Anderson, Mrs. Herbert Anderson, Mrs. Leland Engman, Mrs. Carl L. Swanson, Mrs. Kermit Johnson, Mrs. Homer Giffert, Mrs. Joseph Kasaback, Mrs. Charles Russo, Mrs. John Stranava, Mrs. William Campbell, Mrs. Paul Minugh, Miss Katherine Juban, Miss Grace Mattison, Miss Virginia Turay, Mrs. June Carley and Miss Joyce Wallin.

Friends are happy to hear that Stewart Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Johnson of Ludlow, has been chosen as the "Student of the Week" at Kane Area Senior High School. Stewart has been one of the library's most efficient workers for over two years, giving up part of his lunch time this year to help serve — particularly the students who borrow magazines for research projects.

He is also reporter for the school paper and helps with production and a projectionist. His present art project is a marble sculpture in the design of an Easter Island figure. In spare time he is carving a set of chess men in abstract pattern.

He is also an active member of Moriah Church where he serves as usher. Stewart is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Carlson of Ludlow.

Miss Susie Krantz recently arrived home after spending several months in California and Minnesota.

Mrs. Allen (Bud) Anderson from Corry, visited at the home of Mrs. Robert Wenstran last Saturday.

Miss Brenda Ralston of Barnes, spent the weekend in Ludlow with Mr. and Mrs. William Ralston.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Larson of Corning, N. Y., were weekend guests at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Larson.

Arrests at Ridgway

RIDGWAY — Ridgway police reported making three arrests for disorderly conduct over the past week-end. An accident on Boot Jack Road early Sunday morning also brought charges against the driver for reckless driving.

Nabbed at Fredonia

RIPLEY, N.Y.—Three Cleveland men were nabbed by state police at Fredonia, N.Y., Monday morning and held on technical charges pending confirmation that the car they were riding in had been stolen. They gave the names of Larry A. Chopenes, 24, Daniel L. Hanak, 18, and Alfred T. Callani, 15.

LEMON PECAN QUICK BREAD

Delicious sliced and buttered or made into sandwiches with a cream-cheese filling.

YoungstersGo for QuickBread

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

After-school treats! Lunch-box delights! That's where quick breads shine. Children like these hearty nutritious loaves sliced and buttered or made into cream-cheese sandwiches. Fortunately most mothers find the quick breads easy to bake.

Here's the latest recipe we have tried for one of these loaves. Its good flavor is pointed up by adding pecans and grated fresh lemon rind to the batter. Convenient evaporated milk from the pantry shelf is used, along with water, as the liquid. By the way, evaporated milk makes wonderful cocoa—so if you want to give your youngsters a double treat, serve the lemon-pecan bread with mugs of that good hot beverage.

LEMON PECAN QUICK BREAD
2½ cups sifted regular flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
1 cup chopped pecans
1 egg
½ cup water
¾ cup evaporated milk, undiluted
2 teaspoons grated fresh lemon rind

2 tablespoons butter, melted
Into a medium bowl sift together the flour, baking powder, er, salt and sugar; stir in pecans. In a small bowl beat egg until thick and ivory color; add water and evaporated milk and beat to blend; stir in lemon rind and butter. Add egg mixture to sifted ingredients; stir just until all dry ingredients are moistened but not until smooth. Turn into a well greased loaf pan (9 by 5 by 3 inches). Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean—55 to 60 minutes. Place pan on wire rack to cool bread for 10 minutes; loosen edges and turn out on rack; turn right side up; cool entirely. Tightly cover bread with plastic wrap or foil and refrigerate overnight before slicing.

Meat Loaf Gets Fancy Sauce

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

THIS MEAT LOAF looks pretty enough for company.

It's baked in a different way from usual. The meat mixture is packed into a round layer cake pan and then turned out into a large pan so it will keep its shape during baking. Just before the loaf is ready, it's given a glaze of whole cranberry sauce from a buffet-size can.

The meat mixture is a little different, too. It calls for lots of finely chopped celery. You can use the narrow end of celery ribs for this, saving the lower wide part of the ribs for eating "as is," for cutting into wedges and stuffing or for slicing thin and adding to salads. When the meat loaf comes out of the oven and you are ready to transfer it, this can be done easily with two large spatulas. Only one wide spatula on hand? Use it along with a pancake turner.

Because of its sweet glaze, you might like to serve this meat loaf with yams. Add a tossed green salad and some crusty rolls and you'll have your main course made.

GLAZED MEAT LOAF
1 egg
½ cup milk
¼ cup fine dry breadcrumbs
1 pound ground beef
1 pound ground pork
2 tablespoons minced onion
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1½ cups finely chopped celery
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon pumpkin pie spice
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 can (8 ounces) whole cranberry sauce

In a large mixing bowl beat the egg enough to combine yolk and white; add milk and beat to combine. Stir in breadcrumbs; allow to stand for about 15 minutes. With your hands or a mixing fork, thoroughly mix in the beef, pork, onion, parsley, celery, salt, pepper, pumpkin pie spice and soy sauce. Turn into a round layer cake pan (8 by 1½ inches); pack down. Line an oblong pan (13 by 9 by 2 inches) with foil, turning sides up; turn out meat mixture onto center of greased foil. Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven for 1 hour. Spread cranberry sauce over top of meat loaf; return to oven to heat cranberry sauce—about 10 minutes. Transfer to serving plate; if watercress is at hand, loaf will look pretty ringed with watercress sprigs. Makes 8 servings.

WITH CRANBERRY GLAZE

Meat loaf gets a cranberry glaze and is served with yams.

Variation on Hot Cross Buns

A variation on that old favorite—hot cross buns.
Tomato Soup
Crackers
Egg Salad with Vegetables
Wholewheat Hot Cross Buns

WHOLEWHEAT HOT CROSS BUNS
½ cup milk, scalded
¼ cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
¼ cup butter or margarine
3 tablespoons dark molasses
1 1/3 cups warm water
2 packages active dry yeast
½ cup currants
¼ cup chopped citron
2½ cups stoneground whole-wheat flour, unsifted
3¼ cups (about) unsifted regular flour

Off heat, stir the sugar, salt, butter and molasses into the scalded milk; cool to lukewarm. In a large warm bowl, dissolve the yeast in warm water; add lukewarm milk mixture, currants, citron and wholewheat flour; stir well to blend. Work in enough additional regular flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured surface and knead until smooth and elastic—8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl; turn to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm draft-free place until doubled—about 1 hour. Punch down dough; turn out as before. Divide into 18 equal pieces; form into smooth balls. Place in two greased 8-inch square pans. Cover; let rise as previously until doubled—about 45 minutes. Bake in a hot

Accidents Chief Cause of Death Among Young Adults-Adolescents

NEW YORK, N.Y.—Of all causes of death among adolescents and young adults, accidents take by far the greatest toll, according to statisticians of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

In 1964, the latest year for which official figures are available, accidents were responsible for 62 percent of the deaths among males aged 15-24, and for 57 percent among females in the same age group. For both sexes combined, this was seven times the loss of life inflicted by cancer, next in importance as a cause of death at these ages.

The 1964 death count from accidents included 17,190 young persons 15-24 years old. This is equivalent to an accident death rate of 59.2 per 100,000 adolescents and young adults. The 1964 figures also represent the third successive annual increase in the total number and rate of accidental fatalities among young persons. Preliminary data point to still higher figures for 1965.

Accidents also play a major role in disability at these ages. Data from the National Health Survey indicate that about 7 million of these young people annually suffer non-fatal injuries serious enough to require medical attention or to result in at least one day of restricted activity. A fourth of them sustain their injuries in and about the home. Nearly as large a proportion are hurt in school buildings and on school premises. About a sixth are injured at work.

Surprisingly, in view of their greater importance as the cause of fatalities, street and highway accidents—largely motor vehicle mishaps—account for only a seventh of the non-fatal injuries.

Against the comparatively low figure for non-fatal injuries, motor vehicle mishaps cause 70 percent of the fatalities.

'Handy Man' Is Theme of Cub Packs in March

By MRS. PAUL LINDELL

Den 1 opened their meeting with the Promise, Scout Law, and the pledge to the flag. Den Chief Alan Swanson took roll call and dues. The March theme "Handy man" was explained after which Den Dad Donald Andersen demonstrated the use of various wood working tools. The Den Chief then timed each boy in pounding nails and the hand drill. Meeting closed with the boys giving Mr. Andersen the Grand Howl.

Plan Highway Loop Around Two Cities

OIL CITY — A major thoroughfare plan, which would include the "looping" of highways around Oil City and Franklin to avoid traffic congestion in the two cities, has been proposed by the Venango County Planning Commission.

The plan, which has been called "bold, yet realistic," by Planning Director J. Edward Adams, is included in the long-awaited Venango County Master Plan, presented officially to the public Monday.

DHIA Reports On Milk Output For January

According to Warren Co. Dairy Herd Improvement Association's January report released today, top Warren County dairy cow for January was "Dean", a Holstein owned by L. A. Miller. She produced 21,611 pounds milk and 805 pounds butterfat.

High herd for the county, Leigh Smith's Holstein herd in Pittsfield, averaged 1605 pounds milk and 61 pounds butterfat.

Probe Arson New Stanton Motel Blaze

NEW STANTON, Pa. (AP) — Fire caused an estimated $4,000 damage to the Motel Americana in this Westmoreland County town Tuesday and state police probed the possibility of arson.

It was the second motel owned by Angele Petropoulos of Greensburg to be struck by fire in four days. His Motel Americana in Greensburg suffered $25,000 damage in a blaze Saturday.

Damage to the motel in New Stanton, just off the Pennsylvania Turnpike, was confined to the attic. There were no injuries.

The cause was not determined immediately.

Carl Metz, state police fire marshal, said several plastic bags filled with gasoline were found in the Greensburg motel after Saturday's fire.

Youngsville Sixth Graders Study Incas

The Youngsville sixth grade has recently completed a study of the Inca Indians. The project was directed by Brent Crippen with Peggy Anderson in charge of the mural which stretches across the back wall of the room.

The students created pottery out of clay and have it displayed in the library. They sewed bur-lap clothing and bedecked the raiment with "early American" designs. One group, directed by Janet Woodin, spent three weeks perfecting an Inca dance and then performed their new skill before another class of sixth graders.

They dressed dolls Inca style, constructed shadow boxes, built a miniature village, and added realism to the mural by including a 3-d suspension bridge. Inca farming practices and religious customs were depicted in the original art work.

Mr. Swick is the instructor.

Pastor Leaving

OLEAN, N.Y.—The Rev. A. David Bos, associate pastor of First Presbyterian Church, will leave at the end of March to accept an exploratory ministry on Long Island. He has been in Olean since 1960.

Humane Society Has More Dogs

The Warren County Humane Society yesterday reported a number of additional dogs which would make fine pets for any families interested. Persons seeking information may call 723-6112.

The society reported these dogs on hand: a female hound puppy; a part cocker, male, about four months old, black; 3 spaniel puppies, three months old, one male, two females; 1 shepherd collie puppy, male; a short-haired female dog, about six months old.

Valuation Gains

TITUSVILLE — Total assessed valuation in Titusville has increased $95,688 in 1967 despite valuation losses in the Fourth and Fifth Wards, City Treasurer Norman Canada announced Monday. The present assessed valuation is 19,190,451.

STUDY INCA INDIANS

Highways First Job in Union City Basin

McKeesport to Expand to Four Year College

UNION CITY—First work is getting under way here on the Union City Reservoir, with letting of a $1.5 million contract for highway relocation.

Three corps personnel from the Shenango River Reservoir project at Sharpsville, will be moved here to handle the work with John Staples, resident engineer at Sharpsville, slated to be resident engineer on the reservoir to be built northwest of here.

Staples said the initial contract for construction related to the reservoir was awarded to Vipond & Vipond Inc., of Hollidaysburg.

Their contract calls for reconstruction of Rts. 25043 and 25049 in the reservoir area. The road runs westerly from Rt. 8 in western Amity Township to near Waterford in Waterford Township. It crosses French Creek near the western-Waterford Township line. Several township roads also are involved in the job.

Headquarters for the contractor and the corps have been established on the Marvin Hawley farm on French Creek. Don Walter is construction superintendent for the contractor.

Summers, contacted at the corps' site office, said the contract was awarded in mid-December and calls for the relocation work to be completed in 600 calendar days. Clearing of right of way presently is underway. A large fill and several bridges are included in the project.

Staples said if Congress approves a 1967-68 budget request of $500,000 for the Woodcock Creek Reservoir in Woodcock Township, it may be possible to begin some construction work during the coming fiscal year. The Union City Reservoir 1967-

68 budget request is for $1,450,000.

The corps' real estate office in Union City has been acquiring land for the Union City Reservoir since mid-1966 and expects to complete purchases this year. All the work area land has been acquired but lands within the impoundment area have not been completely acquired. Land acquisition in the Woodcock Reservoir area is expected to begin this summer.

The state of Virginia was named for Queen Elizabeth I

University Park — The McKeesport Campus of The Pennsylvania State University will eventually be expanded into a four-year college, officials at the University said yesterday.

While the University's Development Committee last year recommended that the McKeesport Campus be converted into a full four-year University branch, the projection did not move into reality until this week when William L. Buck, McKeesport realtor announced the gift of 100 acres of land to the University.

The land, valued at $1.5 million, is adjacent to the present 13-acre Campus.

With the land, the University said it would be able to construct planned classroom buildings, residence halls, research laboratories and other buildings at an estimated cost of $30 to $40 million.

Since the opening of the McKeesport Campus in 1948, Penn State has offered the first two years of baccalaureate degree programs and two-year technical programs leading to the associate degree.

Mr. Buck said his gift of land was contingent upon the University's willingness to start plans for the new buildings immediately. Construction is currently underway on a major academic building on the existing campus site, and two additional buildings are now being designed.

Dr. Eric A. Walker, president of Penn State, said that for some time there have been plans for the McKeesport Campus to serve a major role in the University's future growth because of the large college-age population in the area.

Of the nearly 3,000 Penn State undergraduate degree students from Allegheny County this year, 24 per cent, or nearly one in four, are attending classes at a Penn State branch campus, most of them at McKeesport.

Penn State architects are at work now making site revisions to initial plans for the buildings to be erected on the new land.

McKean Candidate SMETHPORT — Mrs. Albert Harrington of Smethport, widow of a former McKean County Commissioner, Tuesday announced she will be a candidate in the May 16 Democratic primary for nomination to that office.
